Congress Objects to Accessibility of Files to Group

Washington, Jan. 26 (AP)—President Truman's plans for his new Internal Security Commission touched off strong protest in Congress today—especially regarding policy on access to secret files.

Mr. Truman late yesterday named the eight other "distinguished citizens" who will serve on the commission under Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, who was appointed chairman earlier in the week.

The commission will study the problem of protecting the nation's internal security without sacrificing the people's freedoms. Part of the presidential assignment calls for an analysis and report on the loyalty program covering government workers.

The eight other members are:

Miss Anna Lord Strauss, former president of the League of Women Voters, as vice chairman; the Rev. Karl Morgan Block, Episcopal bishop of California; former Republican Senator John Danaher of Connecticut; Harvey Firestone, Jr., of Akron, Ohio; William E. Leahy, Washington, D. C., lawyer; Charles H. Silver, vice president of the American Woolen Co.; the Rev. Emmett M. Walsh, coadjutor bishop of Youngstown, Ohio; and Russell C. Leffingwell, former assistant secretary of the treasury and former Morgan banking house partner.

Will Have Access

In naming them, Mr. Truman told his news conference the group will have access to confidential files on federal employes on exactly the same basis as that afforded congressional committees which have looked into the records of government jobholders.

One such group, headed by former Senator Tydings (D.-Md.) conducted last year's highly controversial inquiry into the Communist-in-government charges of Senator McCarthy (R.-Wis.).

Mr. Truman, after first refusing, made available State Department loyalty files to that group. McCarthy and some other Republicans contended the files were inadequate. They also protested against the President's order that only the committee members—and not the staff—could examine the files.

Another complaint by some Republicans was that the commit-

Parallel Drawn Between Problems Of Growers, U. S.

Public Relations Counsel Addresses Banquet of Horticulture Society

"There are so many of us looking for others to tell us what to do that we have no right to look for a rosy future," George A. Bowie, public relations counsel of Akron, Ohio, told more than 200 persons at the annual banquet of the New York State Horticultural Society on Thursday night.

Drawing a clever parallel between the problems of apple growers and the problems of national security, Bowie condemned the apparent lack of confidence in individuals.

"We made our big mistake when we began to think the right thing to do was to let other people do our thinking for us," he said.

Joseph Stalin of Russia and Mao of Red China are the only two people in the world "who seem to know what they want and how they want to get it," he said. The rest of us, he said, are "waiting for someone else to tell us what to do . . . and where to go."

Individuals Unimportant

Defining communism as a theory under which the group or the society is the only important thing, and individuals are of no account, Bowie contended that the result of the apparent loss of individual prestige in this country has the result that "we are fighting something we don't like, but half believe in."

He pointed out that early Americans know that there can be no society "without men and women to form it," and warned that we seem to be losing sight of that fact.

"An individual is far more important than any organization to which he might belong," he repeated.

He applied this not only to national affairs, but also specifically to the problem of marketing apples. Bowie, who handles public relations for the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company, advised the growers to "slant all promotions at the individual consumer, not at the mass market."

"You can know all you need to know about raising apples; you can know all you need to know about getting your apples from the farm to the market, but unless you have the right attitude toward yourself and the consumer, you'll never sell them," he said.

Not Selfish Thing

Confidence in one's self is not a selfish thing, he said, but is necessary before a person can have confidence in others. He pointed out that the Lord's commandment to

College Students Can Finish Terms, Still Pick Service

Washington, Jan. 26 (AP)—College students tapped for the draft received new assurance today that they can stay in school until the end of the term and still enlist in the service of their choice.

The program is intended to halt a rush by students to drop out of school to enlist in the air force or navy. Ordinarily, students receiving draft notices must go into the army even though their actual induction might be deferred until the end of the school year.

The Defense Department first announced the new plan last week but found it conflicted with existing regulations. There also was considerable confusion among students and draft board officials over how the plan would operate.

Ashokan Waters Spilling Over

The Ashokan reservoir rose to its capacity and water began coming over the spillway at an early hour this morning.

The Ashokan is the third reservoir in the system to reach the overflow stage this month. The Schoharie began spilling over Wednesday and Croton has been overflowing since January 16. The New York city reservoir system as a whole was at 98.5 per cent of capacity on Thursday, compared to 42.1 per cent a year ago.

The gain is not as encouraging as it might appear, Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity officials point out, because unusual January thaws have released the huge deposits of snow which are usually counted on to flow into the reservoirs in March.

Laidlaw Welcomes Teachers; Sears Is Opening Speaker

Yale University Professor of Conservation Says Soil Problems Serious

Stressing the fact that schools must give their youth both moral and spiritual leadership in clear, careful, fundamental thinking, if they hope to combat communism and cope with the trying problems that they are called upon to face every day, Superintendent of Schools Arthur J. Laidlaw welcomed the 230 members of the local public school system together with guests from neighboring schools in Ulster and Orange counties.

The opening address by Dr. Paul Sears, chairman of the conservation program at Yale University, stressed the fact that new scientific knowledge and agricultural skill have not been able to increase the per acre yield of tillable soil. Consequently, with the world's population increasing daily by 55,000, large sections of the earth are faced with a permanent problem of high infant mortality, short life span and sub-standard diets.

Soil Dangers Cited

Taking as his subject "Deserts on the March," the title of one of his most popular books, which Dr. Richard H. D. Boerker, who introduced the speaker, explained had revolutionized the thinking of conservationists everywhere when it was published 15 years ago. Dr. Sears explained that when originally cleared of its forests, the rich agricultural lands of his home state, Ohio, had yielded 60 bushels of wheat to an acre and 80 to 100 bushels of corn. But today with only 15 per cent of the state covered with forests, the natural springs are drying up and once fertile farms are suffering from erosion.

The speaker explained that previously when soil was exhausted, the people moved on to new farms but now that all the continents have been developed, mass migration is no longer possible. With streams polluted by city sewerage and industrial waste, with forests which supported wild life, denuded, all conservationists have come to realize that their individual problems are part of the same general pattern of destruction and lack of planning.

Should Keep Soil

Dr. Sears stated that at long last the farmer is coming to realize that he should keep the valuable top soil on his farm instead of letting it drain away into streams and ditches. And every year more farmers are planting trees and getting their hillsides into grass. He referred repeatedly to the successful experiment that is being carried on by Louis Bromfield in rebuilding worn-out land to a high state of fertility.

"We must," Dr. Sears insisted, 'so shape our conservation program that we feel an obligation

Senator Says India Is Making Big Gamble in Opposing U.S.

Washington, Jan. 26 (AP)—Senator George (D.-Ga.) said today that Prime Minister Nehru of India was "making a tremendous gamble" in opposing American efforts to brand Red China as an aggressor in Korea.

The veteran lawmaker viewed Nehru as gambling that the Chinese Communists "with or without active and direct participation of the Russians" would overplay aggression in other areas and run out of steam before getting around to India.

"Evidently Nehru hopes that Red China's problems will so multiply in Korea, Indo-China, Burma and Tibet that he can reach a working agreement with Mao Tse-tung on some type of neutrality," George told a reporter.

Mao is the leader of the Chinese Communist government whose forces now are pitted against the United Nations troops in North Korea. Nehru, Wednesday, in a major policy speech lined up against American efforts to get the U.N. to declare the Chinese Reds as aggressors. He called, instead, for a conference of major powers to discuss their differences.

George, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, expressed his views amid these other developments:

1. President Truman told his news conference yesterday he believes in "calling an aggressor an aggressor," but that each U.N. member must make up its own mind about the American proposal to brand Red China with the tag.

2. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee arranged to meet with Secretary of State Acheson (3:30 p. m.) for a briefing on the questions French Pre-

Price-Wage Edicts Big Question

Saturday Afternoon Is Held Most Likely Time; Could Come Sooner, Later

Testimony Due

Wilson, Johnston Are to Appear Before Joint Groups

Washington, Jan. 26 (AP)—Economic boss Eric Johnston today prepared to issue a blanket wage control order on his own, for lack of union labor agreement to a freeze action by the Wage Stabilization Board.

The announcement, coupled with a price freeze and rollback, could come late today but mechanical problems are very likely to delay it until Saturday.

Washington, Jan. 26 (AP)—The nation teetered again today on the verge of all-out price and wage controls.

The latest information from harassed and haggard officials was that:

1. Saturday afternoon is the likeliest time for issuing the two orders, but don't count on it. They may come later. They could come today.

2. Officials now are considering a price rollback to the highest levels of the period Dec. 15 to Jan. 15, but they are waiting until the last possible moment to insert the rollback date.

3. A general wage formula, which would permit lagging wages to come up to a certain standard, cannot be completed this week, and therefore a temporary flat freeze of wages may be ordered as a stopgap.

4. But the flat freeze of wages has been delayed—and the price freeze with it—because the Wage Stabilization Board (WSB) has been unable to get a unanimous vote.

Hesitate to Vote

The three labor members of the nine-man board hesitated to vote for a freeze. Chairman Cyrus S. Ching felt that it would disturb labor-management peace if he ordered a freeze without a unanimous vote. This led to the possibility that a higher authority, Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston, would have to issue the wage freeze himself.

That's the current status of the off-again-on-again effort to check the rising cost of living.

Official's weren't kidding themselves: Everything was subject to change on short—very short—notice.

The government's economic chiefs, from Johnston up to Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson, and from Wilson up to President Truman, were apparently determined that prices and wages must be brought under immediate controls, and simultaneously if possible.

O.P.S. Is Ready

The Office of Price Stablization, headed by Michael V. DiSalle, was ready with its price freeze—or practically ready. The impact is expected to fall upon all goods except new automobiles and cowhides—previously ordered controlled—and except those things that cannot legally be controlled under the Defense Production Act, like pork and most other farm products.

Johnston and Wilson were scheduled to testify this afternoon before the Senate-House Economic Committee (Johnston at 2 p. m., E.S.T., Wilson at 3:30).

Johnston abandoned his tentative plans for a radio and television speech last night, evidently because of the delays in the freeze orders.

Other Factors

Here are some other economic mobilization items:

Canada Offers 6-Point Program To United Nations Committee

Compromise Provides for Conference in United States or New Delhi

Lake Success, Jan. 26 (AP)—Canada offered a six-point compromise Korean peace plan to the United Nations Political Committee today. Altering some details of a 12-nation Arab-Asian proposal, it calls for a conference here or in New Delhi within a week to talk about a cease-fire as a preliminary to other peace steps.

Lester B. Pearson, Canadian external (foreign) affairs minister, said his program would be a conclusive test of the real intentions of the Communist Chinese government in Peiping.

He proposed that the political committee give the Communist Chinese 48 hours to answer whether it would take part in the conference. He did not present a formal resolution, but merely outlined his plan.

Specifies Cease-Fire

The Canadian plan differed from the Arab-Asian resolution in specifying that a cease-fire must precede any other discussion, and in putting a time limit on negotiations. It also made plain that withdrawal of all non-Korean forces from Korea should include all Chinese.

The committee scheduled two meetings today in a faint hope it may reach votes on the Korean-Chinese questions.

But prolonged argument on priority of the Asian-Arab proposals or altered versions, and on the U. S. demand to brand Communist China as an aggressor in Korea threatened to delay a vote until the week-end.

Sir Benegal N. Rau, of India, chief spokesman for the Arab-Asian group, wants its resolution acted on first. He argued yesterday that a reported lull in hostilities on the Korean front should be seized by the U.N. as a peace-making opportunity.

Should Have Priority

Britain's Sir Bladwyn Jebb immediately agreed that the conference idea should have priority although he said he would generally support provisions of the U. S. proposal except for a committee to study sanctions against Red China.

Jebb upheld the contentions of British Prime Minister Attlee earlier this week that the U.N. should not take any step now that would call for sanctions against Communist China as an aggressor.

Naval guns of the U. S. heavy cruiser St. Paul and accompanying destroyers lighted up the Inchon harbor and silenced Red batteries on Wolmi Island, off Inchon.

Navy, marine and air force planes pounded the whole Seoul area.

Air, in fact, had a heavy day blasting 33 towns in the Seoul area and hammering at two huge enemy road convoys winding down through the mountains in the Kumchon-Kaesong sectors, north of Seoul.

No Charge Follows

The bayonet and hand to hand fighting took place in the vicinity of Suwon. After the doughboys drove off the attacking Reds, a Chinese bugle sounded a charge but no charge came.

It was a wary, deadly game of hide-and-seek all along the front for ground troops. Western area intelligence officers yesterday expressed the opinion the Red Chinese had made a large-scale withdrawal because of supply shortages, the cold weather or possibly for political reasons—hoping for a U.N. cease fire order.

The U. S. Eighth Army communique spoke of light contact with the enemy in the Osan, Suwon and Kumyangjang sectors, northwest of Wonju on the central Korean warfront, and southeast of Tanyang. Tanyang is 40 miles southeast of Wonju.

The communique said there was little or no contact on the east central front except a minor skirmish seven miles north of Yongwol, the Tungsten mining town retaken by the Allies some 14 miles east of Chechon.

B-26s, participating in what the Fifth Air Force indicated was one of its biggest days, pounded at an estimated 250 enemy vehicles moving down side roads toward Kaesong, 40 miles northwest of Seoul from Kumchon, 50 miles above the old South Korean capital.

Reinforcements Arrive

Hong Kong, Jan. 26 (AP)—The first group of reinforcements for the First French Battalion fighting in Korea for the United Nations arrived here yesterday en route to Japan.

Pomeroy, Dutchess, Raps Kingston Bridge Once More

He Would Rather See Money Spent for Poughkeepsie, He Says

Dutchess County Assemblyman Robert W. Pomeroy struck at the Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge proposal again yesterday through an attack on State Senator Walter J. Mahoney's plan for increasing the New York State Bridge Authority's bonded debt limit from $8,000,000 to $18,000,000.

The Poughkeepsie New Yorker in presenting the assemblyman's views yesterday, said "he would prefer to see the authority spend its money on extension of approaches to the mid-Hudson bridge here" (Poughkeepsie).

Questions Advisability

Pomeroy, the paper said, also questioned the advisability of clearing the way for construction of the Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge at a time when the state is supposed to be curtailing unnecessary construction. He also argued again that Mid-Hudson bridge tolls should not be used to construct other bridges.

The Mahoney bill would authorize the authority to issue up to $18,000,000 in bonds for construction of the Kingston-Rhinecliffe bridge. It would also set aside the present law requiring the authority to fund the $7,000,000 debt on the Mid-Hudson bridge prior to issuing bonds for construction of the Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge.

'No Evidence Presented'

Pomeroy argued that no evidence had been presented to show that a bridge in the Kingston area would pay for itself from tolls collected at that bridge. He also argued that in view of plans for bridges at Castleton and Tarrytown, none was needed in the Kingston area.

Pomeroy said he had written to the authority asking its views on the feasibility of diverting some toll money for purchase of rights of way for construction of city approaches to the Mid-Hudson bridge. He said he had not seen the Mahoney bill, but expected to obtain a copy as soon as possible for study of the proposal.

Kefauver Plunges Deeper Into Crime

Marcello Testifies He Won't Give Answers to Committee

New Orleans, Jan. 26 (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver lanced deeper today into the nation's fester of gambling and crime after linking New York with New Orleans operations through a Costello-Kastel alliance.

"Dandy" Phil Kastel held the Senate Crime Commission's attention for the longest single quizzing in the gruelling probe yesterday that lasted from 10 a. m. (CST) until midnight.

Kastel's testimony brought out that the New York gambler Frank Costello owns 20 per cent of the plush Beverly Club here while Kastel himself owns a controlling 47½ per cent; that Kastel and Costello and Costello's relatives have been associated since the 1920's.

He listed other owners of the Beverly Club and their percentage of ownership as: Carlos Marcello 12½ per cent, A. G. Rickerfore 12½ percent, and Dudley Giegerman, Costello's brother-in-law, two-and-one-half per cent.

Marcello Testifies

Marcello, a Sicilian-born vice czar from Gretna, La., whom Kefauver called "one of the principal criminals of the United States," testified at the morning session yesterday. He refused to give any answers except his name and address on grounds that it might tend to incriminate him.

(While the committee threw questions at Kastel, the Beverly Club, a combination night club-casino, reported its night's business took an unexplained rise.

The sleekly groomed Kastel blandly nodded "yes" when Kefauver asked him if he knew Sam Macio, Galveston, Tex., gambler, Allen Smiley, Carlos Marcello, Joe Costello, Tony Logan, Mayer Lansky, Bugsie Siegel and other names that read like a "Who's Who" in rackets.

Says Costello Paid

Asked if Frank Costello was on the Beverly Club's pay roll, Kastel said he was.

"What does he do?" Investigator Downey Rice asked.

"He does good will work," Kastel answered.

"How much does he get for this good will work?" Rice quizzed.

"I believe he gets $867.20, which is $1,000 a month less social security," Kastel said.

"Our records show that Mr. Costello received checks in excess of the $1,000 a month salary," Sen. Kefauver interposed. "For what was this additional money paid?"

Kastel, nervous and irritated, replied: "I don't remember."

Kastel was the only big time

Diplomats Hope Truman Statement Would Reassure

Washington, Jan. 26 (AP)—Diplomatic officials expressed hope today that Preident Truman's latest policy statement on Red China would reassure other nations about American aims in the Far East.

Although the President personally branded the Chinese Communists as aggressors, he also in effect ruled out any hasty punitive action against them.

"Obviously," Mr. Truman told his news conference yesterday, "this is no time for rash or unwise action. This is a time for clear thinking and firmness."

Britain particularly and the European allies of the United States generally have been apprehensive lest this country take, or insist upon the United Nations taking, steps against the Chinese Communists which would bring on a general war in the Far East.

Along with his note of caution, which administration officials said would apply to Americans favoring drastic measures against the Chinese Reds, Mr. Truman also

Blackout Is Placed on Front News

Curtain Lifted Enough to Show Columns Are Working Into Sectors Held by Reds

Seoul Is Pounded

Planes Blast Region Around Capital City; Navy Guns Help

Tokyo, Jan. 26 (AP) — Allied armored columns with strong air support swept through two strategic cities within commuter distance of Seoul today.

They took and then went beyond Suwon, 17 air miles south of the burned out South Korean capital, and Kumyangjang. Kumyangjang is 15 air miles east and slightly southeast of Suwon.

AP Correspondent Jim Becker said it was a "one-two punch" by battle-tested and renowned outfits. They found the streets of Suwon virtually deserted. The walled city was a heap of smoking rubble.

There was no resistance inside the city. But the patrol aimed at Suwon had some trouble before it got there.

The patrol, inching through what once was strong Communist territory, was looking for the main Communist strength in that sector.

The patrol may be on its way to Seoul or as near to the old South Korean capital as it can get. The U. S. 27th Regimental Combat Team—the famed Wolfhounds—fought into and out of Suwon last week. But since then intelligence officers suspect the 90,000 Chinese Reds reported south of Seoul have pulled back.

News Blacked Out

For 36 hours, all news of allied activity in the western part of Korea had been blacked out by the U. S. Eighth Army.

But the curtain was lifted enough today to show that at least two U.N. patrols were working their way into the Red territory south of Seoul.

Our patrol beat off a Red Chinese attack with bayonets. Tanks drove the Reds off a hill in another sector.

The Office of Price Stablization, headed by Michael V. DiSalle, was ready with its price freeze—or practically ready. The impact is expected to fall upon all goods except new automobiles and cowhides—previously ordered controlled—and except those things that cannot legally be controlled under the Defense Production Act, like pork and most other farm products.

Johnston and Wilson were scheduled to testify this afternoon before the Senate-House Economic Committee (Johnston at 2 p. m., E.S.T., Wilson at 3:30).

Johnston abandoned his tentative plans for a radio and television speech last night, evidently because of the delays in the freeze orders.

Other Factors

Here are some other economic mobilization items:

Canada Offers 6-Point Program To United Nations Committee

Chinese Reds Are Wrong

Compromise Provides for Conference in United States or New Delhi

Lake Success, Jan. 26 (AP)—Canada offered a six-point compromise Korean peace plan to the United Nations Political Committee today. Altering some details of a 12-nation Arab-Asian proposal, it calls for a conference here or in New Delhi within a week to talk about a cease-fire as a preliminary to other peace steps.

Lester B. Pearson, Canadian external (foreign) affairs minister, said his program would be a conclusive test of the real intentions of the Communist Chinese government in Peiping.

He proposed that the political committee give the Communist Chinese 48 hours to answer whether it would take part in the conference. He did not present a formal resolution, but merely outlined his plan.

Specifies Cease-Fire

The Canadian plan differed from the Arab-Asian resolution in specifying that a cease-fire must precede any other discussion, and in putting a time limit on negotiations. It also made plain that withdrawal of all non-Korean forces from Korea should include all Chinese.

The committee scheduled two meetings today in a faint hope it may reach votes on the Korean-Chinese questions.

But prolonged argument on priority of the Asian-Arab proposals or altered versions, and on the U. S. demand to brand Communist China as an aggressor in Korea threatened to delay a vote until the week-end.

Sir Benegal N. Rau, of India, chief spokesman for the Arab-Asian group, wants its resolution acted on first. He argued yesterday that a reported lull in hostilities on the Korean front should be seized by the U.N. as a peace-making opportunity.

Should Have Priority

Britain's Sir Bladwyn Jebb immediately agreed that the conference idea should have priority although he said he would generally support provisions of the U. S. proposal except for a committee to study sanctions against Red China.

Jebb upheld the contentions of British Prime Minister Attlee earlier this week that the U.N. should not take any step now that would call for sanctions against Communist China as an aggressor.

New Zealand's Sir Carl Berendsen was emphatically caustic in demanding that Red China should be named outright and quickly as an aggressor but he supported the British viewpoint that the U.N. should go slow in invoking sanctions.

Jebb said there was no doubt that Red China has helped the Communist aggression in Korea but he argued that the 12-nation proposal seemed to show the quickest way to peace now. He said there were two ways of treating a culprit — arresting him or reforming him — and this was a chance to reform Communist China.

Right to Occupy Seat

The British delegate again arged that Communist China had the right to occupy China's seat in the U.N. and its veto-power place in the Security Council.

Rau said that the reports of the lull on the Korean front came from the press. He did not say so, but some other Indian sources claimed that without calling a cease-fire, the Communist Chinese were holding off fighting to create a cease-fire status pending the U.N. discussions.

The 12-nation proposal calls for a conference in the Far East among Communist China, Soviet Russia, Britain, France, the U. S.,

Kefauver Plunges Deeper Into Crime

Marcello Testifies He Won't Give Answers to Committee

New Orleans, Jan. 26 (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver lanced deeper today into the nation's fester of gambling and crime after linking New York with New Orleans operations through a Costello-Kastel alliance.

"Dandy" Phil Kastel held the Senate Crime Commission's attention for the longest single quizzing in the gruelling probe yesterday that lasted from 10 a. m. (CST) until midnight.

Kastel's testimony brought out that the New York gambler Frank Costello owns 20 per cent of the plush Beverly Club here while Kastel himself owns a controlling 47½ per cent; that Kastel and Costello and Costello's relatives have been associated since the 1920's.

He listed other owners of the Beverly Club and their percentage of ownership as: Carlos Marcello 12½ per cent, A. G. Rickerfore 12½ percent, and Dudley Giegerman, Costello's brother-in-law, two-and-one-half per cent.

Marcello Testifies

Marcello, a Sicilian-born vice czar from Gretna, La., whom Kefauver called "one of the principal criminals of the United States," testified at the morning session yesterday. He refused to give any answers except his name and address on grounds that it might tend to incriminate him.

(While the committee threw questions at Kastel, the Beverly Club, a combination night club-casino, reported its night's business took an unexplained rise.

The sleekly groomed Kastel blandly nodded "yes" when Kefauver asked him if he knew Sam Macio, Galveston, Tex., gambler, Allen Smiley, Carlos Marcello, Joe Costello, Tony Logan, Mayer Lansky, Bugsie Siegel and other names that read like a "Who's Who" in rackets.

Says Costello Paid

Asked if Frank Costello was on the Beverly Club's pay roll, Kastel said he was.

"What does he do?" Investigator Downey Rice asked.

"He does good will work," Kastel answered.

"How much does he get for this good will work?" Rice quizzed.

"I believe he gets $867.20, which is $1,000 a month less social security," Kastel said.

"Our records show that Mr. Costello received checks in excess of the $1,000 a month salary," Sen. Kefauver interposed. "For what was this additional money paid?"

Kastel, nervous and irritated, replied: "I don't remember."

Kastel was the only big time

He Would Rather See Money Spent for Poughkeepsie, He Says

Dutchess County Assemblyman Robert W. Pomeroy struck at the Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge proposal again yesterday through an attack on State Senator Walter J. Mahoney's plan for increasing the New York State Bridge Authority's bonded debt limit from $8,000,000 to $18,000,000.

The Poughkeepsie New Yorker in presenting the assemblyman's views yesterday, said "he would prefer to see the authority spend its money on extension of approaches to the mid-Hudson bridge here" (Poughkeepsie).

Questions Advisability

Pomeroy, the paper said, also questioned the advisability of clearing the way for construction of the Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge at a time when the state is supposed to be curtailing unnecessary construction. He also argued again that Mid-Hudson bridge tolls should not be used to construct other bridges.

The Mahoney bill would authorize the authority to issue up to $18,000,000 in bonds for construction of the Kingston-Rhinecliffe bridge. It would also set aside the present law requiring the authority to fund the $7,000,000 debt on the Mid-Hudson bridge prior to issuing bonds for construction of the Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge.

'No Evidence Presented'

Pomeroy argued that no evidence had been presented to show that a bridge in the Kingston area would pay for itself from tolls collected at that bridge. He also argued that in view of plans for bridges at Castleton and Tarrytown, none was needed in the Kingston area.

Pomeroy said he had written to the authority asking its views on the feasibility of diverting some toll money for purchase of rights of way for construction of city approaches to the Mid-Hudson bridge. He said he had not seen the Mahoney bill, but expected to obtain a copy as soon as possible for study of the proposal.

Blackout Is Placed on Front News

Curtain Lifted Enough to Show Columns Are Working Into Sectors Held by Reds

Seoul Is Pounded

Planes Blast Region Around Capital City; Navy Guns Help

Tokyo, Jan. 26 (AP) — Allied armored columns with strong air support swept through two strategic cities within commuter distance of Seoul today.

They took and then went beyond Suwon, 17 air miles south of the burned out South Korean capital, and Kumyangjang. Kumyangjang is 15 air miles east and slightly southeast of Suwon.

AP Correspondent Jim Becker said it was a "one-two punch" by battle-tested and renowned outfits. They found the streets of Suwon virtually deserted. The walled city was a heap of smoking rubble.

There was no resistance inside the city. But the patrol aimed at Suwon had some trouble before it got there.

The patrol, inching through what once was strong Communist territory, was looking for the main Communist strength in that sector.

The patrol may be on its way to Seoul or as near to the old South Korean capital as it can get. The U. S. 27th Regimental Combat Team—the famed Wolfhounds—fought into and out of Suwon last week. But since then intelligence officers suspect the 90,000 Chinese Reds reported south of Seoul have pulled back.

News Blacked Out

For 36 hours, all news of allied activity in the western part of Korea had been blacked out by the U. S. Eighth Army.

But the curtain was lifted enough today to show that at least two U.N. patrols were working their way into the Red territory south of Seoul.

Our patrol beat off a Red Chinese attack with bayonets. Tanks drove the Reds off a hill in another sector.

Naval guns of the U. S. heavy cruiser St. Paul and accompanying destroyers lighted up the Inchon harbor and silenced Red batteries on Wolmi Island, off Inchon.

Navy, marine and air force planes pounded the whole Seoul area.

Air, in fact, had a heavy day blasting 33 towns in the Seoul area and hammering at two huge enemy road convoys winding down through the mountains in the Kumchon-Kaesong sectors, north of Seoul.

No Charge Follows

The bayonet and hand to hand fighting took place in the vicinity of Suwon. After the doughboys drove off the attacking Reds, a Chinese bugle sounded a charge but no charge came.

It was a wary, deadly game of hide-and-seek all along the front for ground troops. Western area intelligence officers yesterday expressed the opinion the Red Chinese had made a large-scale withdrawal because of supply shortages, the cold weather or possibly for political reasons—hoping for a U.N. cease fire order.

The U. S. Eighth Army communique spoke of light contact with the enemy in the Osan, Suwon and Kumyangjang sectors, northwest of Wonju on the central Korean warfront, and southeast of Tanyang. Tanyang is 40 miles southeast of Wonju.

The communique said there was little or no contact on the east central front except a minor skirmish seven miles north of Yongwol, the Tungsten mining town retaken by the Allies some 14 miles east of Chechon.

B-26s, participating in what the Fifth Air Force indicated was one of its biggest days, pounded at an estimated 250 enemy vehicles moving down side roads toward Kaesong, 40 miles northwest of Seoul from Kumchon, 50 miles above the old South Korean capital.

Reinforcements Arrive

Hong Kong, Jan. 26 (AP)—The first group of reinforcements for the First French Battalion fighting in Korea for the United Nations arrived here yesterday en route to Japan.

Diplomats Hope Truman Statement Would Reassure

Washington, Jan. 26 (AP)—Diplomatic officials expressed hope today that Preident Truman's latest policy statement on Red China would reassure other nations about American aims in the Far East.

Although the President personally branded the Chinese Communists as aggressors, he also in effect ruled out any hasty punitive action against them.

"Obviously," Mr. Truman told his news conference yesterday, "this is no time for rash or unwise action. This is a time for clear thinking and firmness."

Britain particularly and the European allies of the United States generally have been apprehensive lest this country take, or insist upon the United Nations taking, steps against the Chinese Communists which would bring on a general war in the Far East.

Along with his note of caution, which administration officials said would apply to Americans favoring drastic measures against the Chinese Reds, Mr. Truman also

Parallel Drawn Between Problems Of Growers, U. S.

Public Relations Counsel Addresses Banquet of Horticulture Society

"There are so many of us looking for others to tell us what to do that we have no right to look for a rosy future," George A. Bowie, public relations counsel of Akron, Ohio, told more than 200 persons at the annual banquet of the New York State Horticultural Society on Thursday night.

Drawing a clever parallel between the problems of apple growers and the problems of national security, Bowie condemned the apparent lack of confidence in individuals.

"We made our big mistake when we began to think the right thing to do was to let other people do our thinking for us," he said.

Joseph Stalin of Russia and Mao of Red China are the only two people in the world "who seem to know what they want and how they want to get it," he said. The rest of us, he said, are "waiting for someone else to tell us what to do . . . and where to go."

Individuals Unimportant

Defining communism as a theory under which the group or the society is the only important thing, and individuals are of no account, Bowie contended that the result of the apparent loss of individual prestige in this country has the result that "we are fighting something we don't like, but half believe in."

He pointed out that early Americans know that there can be no society "without men and women to form it," and warned that we seem to be losing sight of that fact.

"An individual is far more important than any organization to which he might belong," he repeated.

He applied this not only to national affairs, but also specifically to the problem of marketing apples. Bowie, who handles public relations for the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company, advised the growers to "slant all promotions at the individual consumer, not at the mass market."

"You can know all you need to know about raising apples; you can know all you need to know about getting your apples from the farm to the market, but unless you have the right attitude toward yourself and the consumer, you'll never sell them," he said.

Not Selfish Thing

Confidence in one's self is not a selfish thing, he said, but is necessary before a person can have confidence in others. He pointed out that the Lord's commandment to

Senator Says India Is Making Big Gamble in Opposing U.S.

Washington, Jan. 26 (AP)—Senator George (D.-Ga.) said today that Prime Minister Nehru of India was "making a tremendous gamble" in opposing American efforts to brand Red China as an aggressor in Korea.

The veteran lawmaker viewed Nehru as gambling that the Chinese Communists "with or without active and direct participation of the Russians" would overplay aggression in other areas and run out of steam before getting around to India.

"Evidently Nehru hopes that Red China's problems will so multiply in Korea, Indo-China, Burma and Tibet that he can reach a working agreement with Mao Tse-tung on some type of neutrality," George told a reporter.

Mao is the leader of the Chinese Communist government whose forces now are pitted against the United Nations troops in North Korea. Nehru, Wednesday, in a major policy speech lined up against American efforts to get the U.N. to declare the Chinese Reds as aggressors. He called, instead, for a conference of major powers to discuss their differences.

George, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, expressed his views amid these other developments:

1. President Truman told his news conference yesterday he believes in "calling an aggressor an aggressor," but that each U.N. member must make up its own mind about the American proposal to brand Red China with the tag.

2. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee arranged to meet with Secretary of State Acheson (3:30 p. m.) for a briefing on the questions French Pre-

Speakers Are Switched

Washington, Jan. 26 (AP)—The Republican National Committee switched speakers hurriedly today amid reports that a Farm Bureau Federation official was avoiding a political appearance. Committee officials told reporters Dana Bennett, executive secretary of the Foundation for Agriculture, had been substituted for Allan B. Kline, head of the Farm Bureau Federation, as speaker at a GOP committee luncheon. Kline is a foe of the Brannan Farm Plan which President Truman yesterday listed as a part of his "must" program in this session of Congress.

Complaints Are Made

Local police yesterday received two complaints that boys were mischievously using air rifles in the city. One at 3:38 p. m. said they were shooting air rifles at passing trains near the Wilbur bridge, and at 4:55 p. m., Arthur Perry, 112 West Pierpont street, said that on the previous night shots were fired at panes of glass on three sides of his house and through the windshield of his car which was parked across from his home. Officers Thomas McGrane and Frank Sammons investigated.

$1,640 Is Pledged During Band Show For Dimes Support

A total of $1,640 was pledged by radio listeners and others during the second annual Parade of Bands show for the March of Dimes campaign Thursday night at the municipal auditorium, Mrs. William E. Powers, county chairman, reported this morning.

Both Mrs. Powers and Addison Jones who is serving as the campaign director for the 1951 drive, hailed the successful affair as a "great tribute to the youngsters by the people of this area."

Starting at 8 o'clock and continuing to nearly 1 o'clock, a continuous line of bands and individual entertainers paraded before the microphone to offer their help in swelling the Dimes drive.

All entertainers, as members of Local 215 of the American Federation of Musicians, who appeared on the show contributed their services to the Dimes fund.

During the long list of entertainment, several speakers were heard endorsing the polio drive including Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, Bernhardt S. Kramer, commander of Kingston Post, 150, American Legion; C. Robert Cousins, president of the Kingston Lions Club; Mike Marchuk of the Musicians Union; and Mrs. Powers.

Time for last night's broadcast was donated to the March of Dimes by WKNY. Dick McCarthy and Ed Eckert of the local station were in charge during the marathon program.

Two additional announcements concerning the advance of the local dimes drive were made this morning. Mrs. Powers announced that a check for $133 has been received from Mrs. Mabel Fischer for the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, Local 186.

Francis J. O'Neill, ball chairman, will make a radio address tonight at 8 o'clock relative to further plans for the ball which will be held next Tuesday night at the Barn.

President's Plan

tee never got a look at the FBI's so-called "raw" files.

Democrats on the committee, on the other hand, expressed themselves as satisfied with the files procedure. They later labelled McCarthy's charges "a fraud and a hoax," and were in turn accused by Republicans of having conducted a "whitewash."

In reply to questions about how the new commission will operate, Mr. Truman first cited congressional precedent as the policy regarding secret files.

Then he declared that when the commission members want to look into a file, all they need do is ask him and he will give them permission to see it.

'Will Get No Place'

Senator Ferguson (R.-Mich.) commented that if Mr. Truman holds to the policy he has applied to congress with respect to files, the commission "will get no place."

Senator McCarran (D.-Nev.), chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, struck the same theme. The judiciary group is planning a new inquiry into subversive activities.

"Congress hasn't had the kind of access to files that amounts to anything," McCaran told a reporter. 'We have been trying to get in for years. I myself have been denied it even in connection with nominations which the judiciary committee needs to investigate."

Senator McCarthy said that if the files are to be made available to the commission on the same basis as they were provided to the Tydings committee, "then the study will be completely without value and Admiral Nimitz ought to resign immediately as chairman."

Her Only Concern

Wapwallopen, Pa., Jan. 26 (AP)—Mrs. Mary O'Neill is 113 years old today and her only concern is shaking the first cold she ever remembers having in her life. No special celebration is planned for the little old lady. She is spending the day reading the flood of greeting cards and gifts received. Mrs. O'Neill is still clear of mind but her eyesight is dimming. As a result she gave up helping with the housework during the past year. She spends her time listening to a battery powered radio in her modest four room home.

France Invites Nations

Paris, Jan. 26 (AP)—France today invited 11 European nations to meet in Paris Feb. 6, to form a single European army out of their present and planned armed forces. The nations are the 10 European members of the Atlantic Pact plus the Eastern German Federal Republic, a Foreign Office spokesman said. Canada and the United States have been invited to send observers.

Six Die in Accident

Noblesville, Ind., Jan. 26 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Snow and their four young children, returning home from church services, were killed last night in an automobile-train crash. The children ranged in age 7 to 15. The Snow family's car and a Monon Railroad streamliner collided at a street crossing near Sheridan. Wreckage and bodies were scattered 200 feet along the right-of-way.

Fund Is Reported

New York, Jan. 26 (AP)—The Metropolitan Opera Company's campaign to raise $750,000, started three weeks ago, already has netted $117,492, including $55,976 donated by radio listeners. The figures were disclosed last night by George A. Sloan, the Met's board chairman. The $750,000 is needed to pay debts incurred for this season's productions and for costumes and settings for several productions next season, Sloan said.

New Paltz Woman Held as Drunk Driver

June Norman, 43, of R.D. 1, New Paltz, was arrested on a charge of driving while intoxicated after her automobile struck another vehicle on Route 208, three miles south of New Paltz Thursday evening, state police at Highland reported.

She was scheduled for hearing today before Justice of the Peace Joseph Deyo of the town of Gardiner.

The other vehicle involved in the accident was driven by Joseph Foertsch, 24, of New Paltz, who told troopers he slowed down and pulled off to the right shoulder of the road in an unsuccessful attempt to avoid a collision. No personal injuries were reported.

Kefauver Plunges

gambling or rackets man who made any semblance of answering questions. With his attorney constantly conferring alongside, the squatty gambler blew up in a rage only once.

That came when Rice asked: "Were you charged with grand larceny----"

Denies Charge

Both Kastel and his attorney leaped to their feet.

"I'll deny that to my dying day," he shouted. "It was a gross miscarriage of justice. I still think I was framed."

Rice said late Kastel was convicted and sentenced to three years in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga. He served at least part of that time.

A soft-spoken Methodist minister, the Rev. Dana Dawson, added sparks to the lively hearing when he told the committee that gamblers had offered him a new Sunday school building to withdraw "padlock" suits against several Jefferson parish (county) gambling castles.

The Beverly was one of the clubs involved in the sutis seeking closure of the houses on the grounds they violated anti-gambling laws.

The 33-year-old minister said he turned down the offer and the congregation underwrote its own building for $80,000.

Orleans Parish Criminal Sheriff John J. Grosch, a New Orleans police patrolman in 1926, could not remember where he got $2,000 in three weeks time to apply on a $7,500 house mortgage.

"I earned it if I paid it," Grosch replied.

After answering a number of questions with "I can't remember" and "I don't know" he snapped at Kefauver: "Was I embarrassed by the questioning here because I voted the States Rights ticket?"

"I didn't know your politics," Sen. Kefauver told him.

Punch Card System Eliminates Error In Tax Billing

Town tax collectors throughout Ulster county will have a much easier job next year and taxpayers in the county will receive a uniform tax bill as a result of the recent adoption of a punch card system and use of the I.B.M. Service Bureau in Poughkeepsie which will extend the tax rolls and make out tax bills by means of modern automatic I.B.M. equipment.

On January 16, following an inspection of the I.B.M. plant at Poughkeepsie, the board of supervisors voted to adopt the punch card system. This will eliminate the old tedious method of extending the town tax rolls by hand each year and will provide typed rolls and uniform tax bills which will be placed in the hands of the tax collectors for collection.

To Be Simplified

The duties of the tax collector will be considerably simplified and speeded up. Under the present system the town tax rolls are extended by hand and the rolls are then turned over to the town tax collectors. Tax collectors then make out individual statements for each taxpayer of the town and when the tax is paid the collector must again make out a tax bill for each parcel of land.

Under the new system all of this work will be done by high speed machines and the manual operations will be eliminated.

A demonstration of just how this work will be done was given twenty supervisors and other county officials who visited the International Business Machines Corporation plant of Poughkeepsie on January 16.

Present at that visit was County Attorney Frederick Stang; Robert A. Snyder, clerk of the board and budget director; County Treasurer John T. Groves and Deputy County Treasurer Dwight McEntee; County Welfare Commissioner Edward E. Murray; William Taylor, deputy clerk of the board of supervisors; Lorin Callahan, town clerk of the town of Lloyd; Roy M. Denniston, chairman of the board of supervisors and Supervisors Kenneth L. Wilson, Peter Williams, John Haynes, Fred Fowler, Louis Hulsair, Eber Coy, Henry Cameron, Albert Cook, Robert Phinney, James Martin, Frank Elliott and John Gaffney.

The group was meet at the plant by Charles J. Daniels, sales representative of the I.B.M. Sales office at 36 Cannon street, Poughkeepsie, and James Frasee, administrative assistant, who greeted the group in the absence of I. Smith Homans, executive assistant on charge of all operations at the I.B.M. plant in Poughkeepsie, who was out of town on business.

Inspection Invited

Following preliminary talks by Mr. Daniels and Mr. Frasee, assistant superintendent of the plant William Estes invited the group to inspect the I.B.M. plant. The group was taken through the entire plant and saw the various I.B.M. products in the process of manufacture. After an hour and a half tour of the plant the men were taken back to the conference room and given an actual machine demonstration of the preparation of tax bills on the I.B.M. machines. This process was demonstrated to the men in several small groups in order that the entire operation could be observed and an opportunity given to ask questions.

Lunch was served at the I.B.M. club and the group then returned to the conference room for an open discussion. There a general discussion of tax accounting was held and an explanation given on how the punch card system is applicable to local government by Mr. Daniels of the I.B.M. office.

It was explained that when the system is first put into operation in a community it is necessary to key punch a master tax file card. This card is used to extend and compute taxes, write the rolls and tax bills. Once this master file has been prepared the punch card is used each year and it becomes necessary to prepare new master cards only in the event of change of ownership of a parcel of property, etc.

Automatic machines operate at high speed and can list 100 cards a minute.

After witnessing the operations and examining samples of the work the Board of Supervisors on Wednesday, January 17, voted to adopt the punch card system and use the I.B.M. Service Bureau in Poughkeepsie to prepare the rolls and bills. This work will be done this year and in 1952 every taxpayer in the county will receive a uniform tax bill.

Not only will the bills and rolls be uniform throughout the county but the process will eliminate the item of extra clerk hire which has been required under the old system for extension of the rolls by hand.

At the meeting of the board several members expressed an opinion that a study should be made of the process to ascertain whether the county should not lease the equipment, do its own tax work and use the equipment throughout the year in other department work. This would necessitate the employment of an operator to run the equipment but it was felt by some that there was sufficient demand in the county departments to warrant the county procuring the equipment rather than having the I.B.M. Service Bureau prepare only the tax rolls and bills.

Removed to Albany

Carmine J. Costello, 34, of 46 South Terrace avenue, Mount Vernon, who was injured in a car-truck accident on Route 28 at Cold Brook, Wednesday night, was taken from the Benedictine Hospital to an Albany hospital in a W. N. Conner ambulance last night. It was reported that Costello had suffered a serious head injury.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Jan. 26 (AP)—A cautious forward movement today in the stock market carried prices upward by as much as $1 to $2 a share.

The price appreciation was not accompanied by any particular buying enthusiasm, but there were few backward areas in the list.

Rails, steels, oils, building materials, and radio-television issues made the best showing among major groups.

Caution was attributed to traders awaiting publication of the new price-wage control regulations, which has been postponed almost from hour to hour for several days. Wall Street also would like to get a good look at United Nations efforts to bring about some kind of peace in Korea.

Granite City Steel jumped more than 3 points. Directors yesterday proposed a two-for-one common stock split.

American Telephone advanced as much as a point at times.

Bills May Set Record

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 26 (AP)—Bills are pouring into the Legislature at a rate that could break the record 6,135 introduced by the 1950 lawmakers. At the close of business yesterday, 2,354 bills had been introduced. That's 154 more than on the corresponding date last year, and the session is only three weeks old. Of that number, 1,068 were introduced by senators, and 1,286 by assemblymen. The 1950 Legislature surpassed the previous record of 5,782 set in 1949.

to pass the land on to those who follow us in as good condition as it was when we got it." In evidence that this can be done, Dr. Sears cited the farms of the Mennonites and Amish in Pennsylvania, who keep the hill tops forested, fence their pasture lands, allow part of their acres to rest and cultivate only the flat valley lands which are less subject to erosion. "Teachers," Dr. Sears concluded, "must stress the fact that nature cannot be short changed."

Discusses Politics

The luncheon speaker, Dr. Samuel P. McCutcheon, chairman, Department of Social Studies, School of Education, New York University, discussed "Power Politics in a Troubled World." He was introduced by Leo Doheny.

Power politics the speaker explained is present in any world situation where one group of nations seeks to convince another group through its ability to coerce them. Dr. McCutchen then reviewed the history of power politics from the time of Louis XIV to World War 1.

During World War 1 the idea of an international organization to provide a common meeting place where nations could resolve their differences before they had become too great, developed. But both the League of Nations and the U.N. were unable to settle world problems, since, because of the strong feeling of nationalism, power politics itself came to operate within these bodies. Nationalism, the speaker feels, is the preeminent factor in the world today and no other force has such vitality or such strength.

One Forward Step

When men extended their feeling of patriotism to include a nation rather than a dutchy or small state, it was a forward step. "Nationalism," he continued, "was at one time an expansion in the horizon of patriotic thinking."

"What," asked the speaker, "is to be next horizon which loyalties and patriotism will seek?" "Horizons of the future," he concluded, "become the problem of the teacher of today."

The afternoon was devoted to a series of eight sectional meetings dealing with special problems in the field of education. Miss Gloria Sorrentino, a teacher in the New Paltz School, demonstrated a class in teacher-pupil planning by conducting a social studies class with her group of 20 seventh grade pupils.

Other sectional meetings stressed reading techniques with Miss Betsy Wiley of the American Book Company in charge; intercultural relations with Dr. William Vickery, Albany State Teachers College; citizenship and cultural values with Dr. Samuel McCutchen, New York University; curriculum reorganization with Dr. Kenneth Howe, New Paltz State Teachers College.

Dr. Dorothy Hayes of New Paltz State Teachers College conducted a sectional meeting on mental health and child development; Dr. Helen Bracen, of Mt. Kisco discussed the slow-learner, and Dr. Samuel Hicks, supervising principal, Pearl River, reviewed "Home, School and Community Planning for a Strong Educational Program."

Schools other than Kingston that were represented at the conference were: Ashokan, Boiceville, Bearsville, Chesterton, Cottekill, East Kingston, Emma Wygant, Glasco, High Falls, Highland, Hurley Lake Katrine, Maple Hill, Middletown, Oliverea, Onteora, Phoenicia, Rosendale, Saugerties, Sawkill, Stone Ridge, Shady, Tillson, West Hurley, Woodstock and Zena.

Speakers Are Switched

Washington, Jan. 26 (AP)—The Republican National Committee switched speakers hurriedly today amid reports that a Farm Bureau Federation official was avoiding a political appearance. Committee officials told reporters Dana Bennett, executive secretary of the Foundation for Agriculture, had been substituted for Allan B. Kline, head of the Farm Bureau Federation, as speaker at a GOP committee luncheon. Kline is a foe of the Brannan Farm Plan which President Truman yesterday listed as a part of his "must" program in this session of Congress.

Complaints Are Made

Local police yesterday received two complaints that boys were mischievously using air rifles in the city. One at 3:38 p. m. said they were shooting air rifles at passing trains near the Wilbur bridge, and at 4:55 p. m., Arthur Perry, 112 West Pierpont street, said that on the previous night shots were fired at panes of glass on three sides of his house and through the windshield of his car which was parked across from his home. Officers Thomas McGrane and Frank Sammons investigated.

Theoretically an electric light bulb could be designed that would burn continuously for 1,000 years—but it would give less light than a firefly.

We wish to express our deep appreciation and heartfelt thanks for the cards of sympathy and acts of kindness shown to us in our sorrow during our recent bereavement, by our relatives, neighbors, friends and many organizations; also for the beautiful floral pieces in tribute.

$1,640 Is Pledged During Band Show For Dimes Support

A total of $1,640 was pledged by radio listeners and others during the second annual Parade of Bands show for the March of Dimes campaign Thursday night at the municipal auditorium, Mrs. William E. Powers, county chairman, reported this morning.

Both Mrs. Powers and Addison Jones who is serving as the campaign director for the 1951 drive, hailed the successful affair as a "great tribute to the youngsters by the people of this area."

Starting at 8 o'clock and continuing to nearly 1 o'clock, a continuous line of bands and individual entertainers paraded before the microphone to offer their help in swelling the Dimes drive.

All entertainers, as members of Local 215 of the American Federation of Musicians, who appeared on the show contributed their services to the Dimes fund.

During the long list of entertainment, several speakers were heard endorsing the polio drive including Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, Bernhardt S. Kramer, commander of Kingston Post, 150, American Legion; C. Robert Cousins, president of the Kingston Lions Club; Mike Marchuk of the Musicians Union; and Mrs. Powers.

Time for last night's broadcast was donated to the March of Dimes by WKNY. Dick McCarthy and Ed Eckert of the local station were in charge during the marathon program.

Two additional announcements concerning the advance of the local dimes drive were made this morning. Mrs. Powers announced that a check for $133 has been received from Mrs. Mabel Fischer for the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, Local 186.

Francis J. O'Neill, ball chairman, will make a radio address tonight at 8 o'clock relative to further plans for the ball which will be held next Tuesday night at the Barn.

President's Plan

tee never got a look at the FBI's so-called "raw" files.

Democrats on the committee, on the other hand, expressed themselves as satisfied with the files procedure. They later labelled McCarthy's charges "a fraud and a hoax," and were in turn accused by Republicans of having conducted a "whitewash."

In reply to questions about how the new commission will operate, Mr. Truman first cited congressional precedent as the policy regarding secret files.

Then he declared that when the commission members want to look into a file, all they need do is ask him and he will give them permission to see it.

'Will Get No Place'

Senator Ferguson (R.-Mich.) commented that if Mr. Truman holds to the policy he has applied to congress with respect to files, the commission "will get no place."

Senator McCarran (D.-Nev.), chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, struck the same theme. The judiciary group is planning a new inquiry into subversive activities.

"Congress hasn't had the kind of access to files that amounts to anything," McCaran told a reporter. "We have been trying to get in for years. I myself have been denied it even in connection with nominations which the judiciary committee needs to investigate."

Senator McCarthy said that if the files are to be made available to the commission on the same basis as they were provided to the Tydings committee, "then the study will be completely without value and Admiral Nimitz ought to resign immediately as chairman."

Her Only Concern

Wapwallopen, Pa., Jan. 26 (AP)—Mrs. Mary O'Neill is 113 years old today and her only concern is shaking the first cold she ever remembers having in her life. No special celebration is planned for the little old lady. She is spending the day reading the flood of greeting cards and gifts received. Mrs. O'Neill is still clear of mind but her eyesight is dimming. As a result she gave up helping with the housework during the past year. She spends her time listening to a battery powered radio in her modest four room home.

France Invites Nations

Paris, Jan. 26 (AP)—France today invited 11 European nations to meet in Paris Feb. 6, to form a single European army out of their present and planned armed forces. The nations are the 10 European members of the Atlantic Pact plus the Eastern German Federal Republic, a Foreign Office spokesman said. Canada and the United States have been invited to send observers.

Six Die in Accident

Noblesville, Ind., Jan. 26 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Snow and their four young children, returning home from church services, were killed last night in an automobile-train crash. The children ranged in age 7 to 15. The Snow family's car and a Monon Railroad streamliner collided at a street crossing near Sheridan. Wreckage and bodies were scattered 200 feet along the right-of-way.

Fund Is Reported

New York, Jan. 26 (AP)—The Metropolitan Opera Company's campaign to raise $750,000, started three weeks ago, already has netted $117,492, including $55,976 donated by radio listeners. The figures were disclosed last night by George A. Sloan, the Met's board chairman. The $750,000 is needed to pay debts incurred for this season's productions and for costumes and settings for several productions next season, Sloan said.

Kefauver Plunges

gambling or rackets man who made any semblance of answering questions. With his attorney constantly conferring alongside, the squatty gambler blew up in a rage only once.

That came when Rice asked: "Were you charged with grand larceny----"

Denies Charge

Both Kastel and his attorney leaped to their feet.

"I'll deny that to my dying day," he shouted. "It was a gross miscarriage of justice. I still think I was framed."

Rice said late Kastel was convicted and sentenced to three years in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga. He served at least part of that time.

A soft-spoken Methodist minister, the Rev. Dana Dawson, added sparks to the lively hearing when he told the committee that gamblers had offered him a new Sunday school building to withdraw "padlock" suits against several Jefferson parish (county) gambling castles.

The Beverly was one of the clubs involved in the sutis seeking closure of the houses on the grounds they violated anti-gambling laws.

The 33-year-old minister said he turned down the offer and the congregation underwrote its own building for $80,000.

Orleans Parish Criminal Sheriff John J. Grosch, a New Orleans police patrolman in 1926, could not remember where he got $2,000 in three weeks time to apply on a $7,500 house mortgage.

"I earned it if I paid it," Grosch replied.

After answering a number of questions with "I can't remember" and "I don't know" he snapped at Kefauver: "Was I embarrassed by the questioning here because I voted the States Rights ticket?"

"I didn't know your politics," Sen. Kefauver told him.

Punch Card System Eliminates Error In Tax Billing

Town tax collectors throughout Ulster county will have a much easier job next year and taxpayers in the county will receive a uniform tax bill as a result of the recent adoption of a punch card system and use of the I.B.M. Service Bureau in Poughkeepsie which will extend the tax rolls and make out tax bills by means of modern automatic I.B.M. equipment.

On January 16, following an inspection of the I.B.M. plant at Poughkeepsie, the board of supervisors voted to adopt the punch card system. This will eliminate the old tedious method of extending the town tax rolls by hand each year and will provide typed rolls and uniform tax bills which will be placed in the hands of the tax collectors for collection.

To Be Simplified

The duties of the tax collector will be considerably simplified and speeded up. Under the present system the town tax rolls are extended by hand and the rolls are then turned over to the town tax collectors. Tax collectors then make out individual statements for each taxpayer of the town and when the tax is paid the collector must again make out a tax bill for each parcel of land.

Under the new system all of this work will be done by high speed machines and the manual operations will be eliminated.

A demonstration of just how this work will be done was given twenty supervisors and other county officials who visited the International Business Machines Corporation plant of Poughkeepsie on January 16.

Present at that visit was County Attorney Frederick Stang; Robert A. Snyder, clerk of the board and budget director; County Treasurer John T. Groves and Deputy County Treasurer Dwight McEntee; County Welfare Commissioner Edward E. Murray; William Taylor, deputy clerk of the board of supervisors; Lorin Callahan, town clerk of the town of Lloyd; Roy M. Denniston, chairman of the board of supervisors and Supervisors Kenneth L. Wilson, Peter Williams, John Haynes, Fred Fowler, Louis Hulsair, Eber Coy, Henry Cameron, Albert Cook, Robert Phinney, James Martin, Frank Elliott and John Gaffney.

The group was meet at the plant by Charles J. Daniels, sales representative of the I.B.M. Sales office at 36 Cannon street, Poughkeepsie, and James Frasee, administrative assistant, who greeted the group in the absence of I. Smith Homans, executive assistant on charge of all operations at the I.B.M. plant in Poughkeepsie, who was out of town on business.

Inspection Invited

Following preliminary talks by Mr. Daniels and Mr. Frasee, assistant superintendent of the plant William Estes invited the group to inspect the I.B.M. plant. The group was taken through the entire plant and saw the various I.B.M. products in the process of manufacture. After an hour and a half tour of the plant the men were taken back to the conference room and given an actual machine demonstration of the preparation of tax bills on the I.B.M. machines. This process was demonstrated to the men in several small groups in order that the entire operation could be observed and an opportunity given to ask questions.

Lunch was served at the I.B.M. club and the group then returned to the conference room for an open discussion. There a general discussion of tax accounting was held and an explanation given on how the punch card system is applicable to local government by Mr. Daniels of the I.B.M. office.

It was explained that when the system is first put into operation in a community it is necessary to key punch a master tax file card. This card is used to extend and compute taxes, write the rolls and tax bills. Once this master file has been prepared the punch card is used each year and it becomes necessary to prepare new master cards only in the event of change of ownership of a parcel of property, etc.

Automatic machines operate at high speed and can list 100 cards a minute.

After witnessing the operations and examining samples of the work the Board of Supervisors on Wednesday, January 17, voted to adopt the punch card system and use the I.B.M. Service Bureau in Poughkeepsie to prepare the rolls and bills. This work will be done this year and in 1952 every taxpayer in the county will receive a uniform tax bill.

Not only will the bills and rolls be uniform throughout the county but the process will eliminate the item of extra clerk hire which has been required under the old system for extension of the rolls by hand.

At the meeting of the board several members expressed an opinion that a study should be made of the process to ascertain whether the county should not lease the equipment, do its own tax work and use the equipment throughout the year in other department work. This would necessitate the employment of an operator to run the equipment but it was felt by some that there was sufficient demand in the county departments to warrant the county procuring the equipment rather than having the I.B.M. Service Bureau prepare only the tax rolls and bills.

Costello, 34, of 46 South Terrace avenue, Mount Vernon, who was injured in a car-truck accident on Route 28 at Cold Brook, Wednesday night, was taken from the Benedictine Hospital to an Albany hospital in a W. Financial and Commercial

New York, Jan. 26 (AP)—A cautious forward movement today in the stock market carried prices upward by as much as $1 to $2 a share.

The price appreciation was not accompanied by any particular buying enthusiasm, but there were few backward areas in the list.

Rails, steels, oils, building materials, and radio-television issues made the best showing among major groups.

Caution was attributed to traders awaiting publication of the new price-wage control regulations, which has been postponed almost from hour to hour for several days. Wall Street also would like to get a good look at United Nations efforts to bring about some kind of peace in Korea.

Granite City Steel jumped more than 3 points. Directors yesterday proposed a two-for-one common stock split.

American Telephone advanced as much as a point at times.

Bills May Set Record

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 26 (AP)—Bills are pouring into the Legislature at a rate that could break the record 6,135 introduced by the 1950 lawmakers. At the close of business yesterday, 2,354 bills had been introduced. That's 154 more than on the corresponding date last year, and the session is only three weeks old. Of that number, 1,068 were introduced by senators, and 1,286 by assemblymen. The 1950 Legislature surpassed the previous record of 5,782 set in 1949.

to pass the land on to those who follow us in as good condition as it was when we got it." In evidence that this can be done, Dr. Sears cited the farms of the Mennonites and Amish in Pennsylvania, who keep the hill tops forested, fence their pasture lands, allow part of their acres to rest and cultivate only the flat valley lands which are less subject to erosion. "Teachers," Dr. Sears concluded, "must stress the fact that nature cannot be short changed."

Discusses Politics

The luncheon speaker, Dr. Samuel P. McCutcheon, chairman, Department of Social Studies, School of Education, New York University, discussed "Power Politics in a Troubled World." He was introduced by Leo Doheny.

Power politics the speaker explained is present in any world situation where one group of nations seeks to convince another group through its ability to coerce them. Dr. McCutchen then reviewed the history of power politics from the time of Louis XIV to World War 1.

During World War 1 the idea of an international organization to provide a common meeting place where nations could resolve their differences before they had become too great, developed. But both the League of Nations and the U.N. were unable to settle world problems, since, because of the strong feeling of nationalism, power politics itself came to operate within these bodies. Nationalism, the speaker feels, is the preeminent factor in the world today and no other force has such vitality or such strength.

One Forward Step

When men extended their feeling of patriotism to include a nation rather than a dutchy or small state, it was a forward step. "Nationalism," he continued, "was at one time an expansion in the horizon of patriotic thinking."

"What," asked the speaker, "is to be next horizon which loyalties and patriotism will seek?" "Horizons of the future," he concluded, "become the problem of the teacher of today."

The afternoon was devoted to a series of eight sectional meetings dealing with special problems in the field of education. Miss Gloria Sorrentino, a teacher in the New Paltz School, demonstrated a class in teacher-pupil planning by conducting a social studies class with her group of 20 seventh grade pupils.

Other sectional meetings stressed reading techniques with Miss Betsy Wiley of the American Book Company in charge; intercultural relations with Dr. William Vickery, Albany State Teachers College; citizenship and cultural values with Dr. Samuel McCutchen, New York University; curriculum reorganization with Dr. Kenneth Howe, New Paltz State Teachers College.

Dr. Dorothy Hayes of New Paltz State Teachers College conducted a sectional meeting on mental health and child development; Dr. Helen Braem, of Mt. Kisco discussed the slow-learner, and Dr. Samuel Hicks, supervising principal, Pearl River, reviewed "Home, School and Community Planning for a Strong Educational Program."

Schools other than Kingston that were represented at the conference were: Ashokan, Boiceville, Bearsville, Chesterton, Cottekill, East Kingston, Emma Wygant, Glasco, High Falls, Highland, Hurley Lake Katrine, Maple Hill, Middletown, Oliverea, Onteora, Phoenicia, Rosendale, Saugerties, Sawkill, Stone Ridge, Shady, Tillson, West Hurley, Woodstock and Zena.

Senator Says . . .

mier Rene Pleven is expected to raise in his discussions with President Truman and other top officials beginning Monday.

3. Chairman Connally (D-Tex) of the Foreign Relations Committee said that a subcommittee headed by Senator Gillette (D-Iowa) would look into any administration proposal to meet India's request for 2,000,000 tons of American wheat. There were advance indications that the Indian request, made last month, would encounter rough sailing if put to Congress.

The background of the Indian request is this: The Indian government asked the United States for 2,000,000 tons of wheat to relieve a food shortage which is verging on a famine.

The cost would be approximately $180,000,000. Transportation costs would hike the figure to more than $200,000,000.

The Indians have suggested a U. S. loan to finance the shipments, but the State Department is understood to feel they cannot afford it and, besides, it should be viewed as a humanitarian project.

The feeling now is that if the wheat is to be made available, it should be done in the form of a gift. Thus far the matter has not yet been presented to Congress.

Each person will continue to receive 2 1/3 cents (two pence) worth of corned beef each week in addition to the fresh meat allowance.

Reversal Is Asked

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 26 (AP)—The government has asked the Federal Court here to upset a jury verdict which held that Vivien Kellems had not wilfully violated the withholding tax law. In two motions filed yesterday, U. S. Attorney Adrian W. Maher asked Judge Carroll C. Hincks to set aside the verdict in which the jury decided for Miss Kellems in her civil suit against Internal Revenue Collector John J. Fitzpatrick. The verdict entitled her to recover $6,133 in penalties levied against her. One motion asked that the court enter a judgment for the defendant. Should that be denied, the other asked for a new trial.

College Students

fense Department and Selective Service got together yesterday to make additional changes in draft rules to legalize the program:

(1) Secretary of Defense Marshall wiped out, as far as college students are concerned, a two-year-old agreement among the armed services which provided that no service would accept a voluntary enlistment after a man had been notified to report for a pre-induction physical examination.

(2) Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey announced he will re-open in the last month of the college year the classification of all students who had been ordered to report for induction during the year but whose induction was postponed under a provision of the draft law allowing deferment of college students. This will open the way for a student, in the final month of the term, to pick his service as a volunteer.

Under the original plan, the student enlistments would have been accepted only in the two months immediately prior to the final month of the term.

The department's new announcement stressed that "each service would accept enlistments only to the extent that places were open for those who desired to enlist."

Magistrates Form County Association

An Ulster County Magistrates Association was formed Thursday night at a meeting in the court house on Wall street of 19 officials who hold court in various areas of the county.

Movement to form the association was started by Justice of the Peace Harold Macholdt of the Town of Ulster, who was elected secretary.

As one of the younger justices of the peace in the county, he said he had been interested in such an organization for some time, and called the magistrates together for last night's organizational session.

Other officers chosen were Percy Bush, Town of Ulster, president; George J. Braendley, Woodstock, vice president; City Judge Raymond J. Mino, Kingston, treasurer.

Three directors are Leonard Albert, Town of Rosendale; Louis Berger, Town of Wawarsing and John O. Beaver, Town of Esopus.

The Ulster association is the 31st formed in New York state and will meet on the fourth Thursday of each month at the supervisors' chambers in the court house on Wall street.

February's meeting is scheduled for the 15th at 7:30 p. m., when an interesting program is to be presented.

Gives Purpose

Secretary Macholdt said the purpose of the association is to obtain and distribute information and instruction in law and procedure, the performance of judicial duties in matters civil and criminal, and the study of economy and efficiency in town government.

This organization is committed to cooperate with the Association of Towns of the State of New York expressed in its constitution and by-laws.

All magistrates of the county and retired magistrates are eligible for membership, Macholdt said. Three members will attend the annual convention of the Association of Towns of New York State on February 6-7 and 8, at Buffalo. The delegates are Harold Macholdt, Morton Bertrand of Pine Hill and Raymond Smith of Phoenicia.

Hearing Adjourned

New York, Jan. 26 (AP)—The hearing for Mrs. Rosa Collazo, charged with conspiracy to assassinate President Truman last Nov. 1, was adjourned yesterday until Feb. 8. In granting the adjournment, U. S. Commissioner Edward W. McDonald told the government it must produce "further evidence" against the 42-year-old woman or he will discharge the complaint against her. Mrs. Collazo's husband, Oscar, has been indicted for the murder of a White House guard in the gun battle outside Blair House last fall.

Negotiations Resume

Washington, Jan. 26 (AP)—John L. Lewis and hard coal operators resumed negotiations today on the United Mine Workers demand for a $1.60 daily wage increase. About 80,000 anthracite miners in eastern Pennsylvania are affected. The talks, which began Monday, had been recessed to allow the operators to confer with price officials yesterday on the effect of any wage increase on hard coal retail prices.

Diplomats Hope

sought to remove any doubt which might exist here or abroad about the firmness of U. S. policy for branding the Red Chinese as aggressors in Korea.

He declared that the views of the United States on this point "have the solid support of the executive, the congress and the people."

"Each member of the United Nations must make its own decision on this issue," he said, "for my part, I believe in calling an aggressor an aggressor." He added, that the question "of what can and should be done about the aggression in Korea of course must be discussed with all other friendly nations."

And he pointed out that the American resolution now pending in the United Nations, while branding the Chinese Communists as aggressors, would leave the way open for further efforts to end the Korean fighting and reach a "peaceful settlement of outstanding issues."

The reference to discussions with other nations on what may be done about the aggression in Korea was generally expected to lessen British concern over the possibility of U. S. insistence that severe sanctions be used against Red China.

In official circles here there is no longer much talk of such measures as naval blockade of the China coast. The British contend that steps involving the use of force against China would amount to waging a limited war which might set off a general conflict. Prime Minister Attlee made it clear in his speech to Parliament this week that Britain wants no part in such action.

Canada Offers . . .

Egypt and India to discuss what steps should be taken for Korean peace, the future of Formosa, and Red Chinese membership in the U.N.

Rau said the conference would be only preliminary, substituting for long delays in negotiation attempts by long-distance cable and mail.

Mitchel Field, N. Y., Jan. 26 (AP)—The First Air Force said today that applicants for air force commissions must produce evidence that they have not received draft calls. The announcement said the new policy also requires that to be eligible for air force commissions, applicants must furnish certificates that they will be available for active duty in 30 days and that their employers will not request deferment.

Senator Says . . .

mier Rene Pleven is expected to raise in his discussions with President Truman and other top officials beginning Monday.

3. Chairman Connally (D-Tex) of the Foreign Relations Committee said that a subcommittee headed by Senator Gillette (D-Iowa) would look into any administration proposal to meet India's request for 2,000,000 tons of American wheat. There were advance indications that the Indian request, made last month, would encounter rough sailing if put to Congress.

The background of the Indian request is this: The Indian government asked the United States for 2,000,000 tons of wheat to relieve a food shortage which is verging on a famine.

The cost would be approximately $180,000,000. Transportation costs would hike the figure to more than $200,000,000.

The Indians have suggested a U. S. loan to finance the shipments, but the State Department is understood to feel they cannot afford it and, besides, it should be viewed as a humanitarian project.

The feeling now is that if the wheat is to be made available, it should be done in the form of a gift. Thus far the matter has not yet been presented to Congress.

Meat Ration Slashed

London, Jan. 26 (AP)—The Labor government today announced a 20 per cent slash in each Briton's tiny ration of fresh meat—from 11 2/3 cents (10 pence) worth a week to 9 1/3 cents (eight pence) worth. Each person will continue to receive 2 1/3 cents (two pence) worth of corned beef each week in addition to the fresh meat allowance.

Bishops Must Decide

Vatican City, Jan. 26 (AP)—L'Osservatore Romano said today Roman Catholic bishops must decide locally whether "to exhort" Catholic laity to withdraw from the ranks of the Rotary Club. The Vatican newspaper said that in some countries, "in practice," Rotary has shown itself to be "tolerant and well-meaning towards religious interests."

Reversal Is Asked

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 26 (AP)—The government has asked the Federal Court here to upset a jury verdict which held that Vivien Kellems had not wilfully violated the withholding tax law. In two motions filed yesterday, U. S. Attorney Adrian W. Maher asked Judge Carroll C. Hincks to set aside the verdict in which the jury decided for Miss Kellems in her civil suit against Internal Revenue Collector John J. Fitzpatrick. The verdict entitled her to recover $6,133 in penalties levied against her. One motion asked that the court enter a judgment for the defendant. Should that be denied, the other asked for a new trial.

INDUSTRIAL DEAFNESS

One of the by-products of an industrial civilization is noise. Street and traffic noises have been lessened in some cities after intensive campaigns to accomplish it, but less has been done so far to cut down the din of factories.

The rise in compensation claims for occupational deafness has brought about an investigation of the causes and effects of industrial noises. Research is being done on the amount, duration and pitch of noise which can be endured by the human ear without resulting in deafness. The problem is complicated by the fact that some persons are more susceptible to noise than are others. Hearing tests for all new employes have been suggested as a possible basis for individual measurements. Ear plugs and ear muffs are being tried out in some factories with relatively good results.

Deafness resulting from noise is one of many reminders that the industrial age has been superimposed upon man's natural environment. Apparently it has not existed long enough for his system to become adapted to its rigors. In the meantime ways must be found to lessen the impact of the immense clatter of machinery upon senses which nature had not prepared to withstand it.

In a New England town an aged man is reported to have worn the same hat for more than sixty years. This would point to a frugal gentleman, perhaps to a lover of old hats, or to the oft-heard assertion that things were made better in the good old days. But if every man wore one hat sixty years, how would the hatter make a living?

75-YEARS OF BASEBALL

Connie Mack is just an infant after all. The 86-year-old retired former manager of the Philadelphia Athletics was not scheduled to be the oldest guest present at the National League's celebration of its seventy-fifth birthday. All living player members of the Baseball Hall of Fame were on the invitation list, and many old-time players. The dean of the former players is the 91-year-old Arlie Latham, a star third baseman for Cincinnati and St. Louis in the nineties, famous also for his antics.

The next oldest former player is younger than Mack. He is the 81-year-old Kid Nichols, the unquestioned king of all pitchers when he worked for Boston in the nineties.

Baseball, like taxes, seems to have been with us always. It is odd to think that the first professional organization dates back only to 1876. There were teams for at least thirty years earlier, notably the Cincinnati Reds of 1869, who did not lose a game until some time in 1870. These teams were soon disbanded, however, and scheduled games at irregular intervals. The formation of a regular league ensured that every member team would meet every other team an equal number of times, and provided disciplinary machinery for expelling crooked players. Three such were thrown out only a year or two after the game started, and the example proved salutary.

Nowadays a major league believes it necessary to have its members located in the nation's largest cities. The National League did not always feel that way, or perhaps could not arrange it. At any rate its membership at times has included such smaller cities as Albany and Troy, New York, Worcester, Massachusetts, Providence, Rhode Island, and Hartford, Connecticut. These doubtless could not afford the salary scales prevailing today.

When setting up the family budget these days it is sometimes helpful to include a column of excuses for creditors.

EYES TO MATCH DRESSES

What won't the women do next? A late notion is to change the eye-color to match the ensemble. This is done through contact lenses, colored to suit. By paying merely $1,000 a woman can have eyes of four or five different hues.

How this will add to the disconcertment of the hapless male, who already has troubles enough! He takes a fancy to a blue-eyed blonde, and at the next moment of gazing soulfully into her eyes finds that they have become green or black. The shock might even cause him to lose his line of conversation.

Many a true word has been mistakenly regarded as a jest.

'These Days'

CALL A HALT!

Until it is decided what is to become of the United Nations, a halt should be called to some of the curious activities of that body.

For instance, a commission or something of UN is now engaged in defining the press. From what I can see of it, most of the efforts are designed to place limitations upon freedom of the press.

What most Americans forget is that the United Nations can lawfully legislate for the American people. A United Nations decision is binding upon us under the treaty which makes us a member of that body. Even should we vote against a measure, but not employ the veto, we are bound to adhere to it, if it is approved by the other members. In cases that have come before our courts, they have so held, as in the California alien land law case in 1948 (Oyama vs. California).

The California land law may or may not be wrong, but California should make her laws, not the United Nations. In fact, by virtue of the treaty, the United Nations has a wider power over our states than the Constitution gives to Congress.

So, that amazing universal declaration of human rights can be destructive of our way of life, because we balance obligations against rights. For instance, take Article 25 of that document:

"Everyone has the right to a standard of living adequate for the health and well-being of himself and of his family, including food, clothing, housing, and medical care and necessary social services, and the right to security. . . ."

Does that mean that we are to establish a socialist society in which every person is a slave to the state which levels all of us down to a minimum subsistence provided by the state?

And what are the obligations of the citizen to the state? No reference is made to that. It could be total and abject obedience.

So, the Genocide Convention comes before us again. This is a measure which may have much justification. Its inspiration was the wiping out of whole peoples by antagonistic governments.

Whatever the intentions of the Genocide Convention, however noble its motives, it would be possible under it for the United Nations to intervene in any state of our country on the assumption that the rights of a racial or a religious group were endangered.

Take, for instance, this provision in the covenant of human rights, which could become the law of our land:

"Freedom to manifest one's religion or beliefs shall be subject only to such limitations as are pursuant to law and are reasonable and necessary to protect public safety, order, health, or morals or the fundamental rights and freedoms of others."

Our system is incorporated in the first amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which provides:

"Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances."

We have in this country some 265 religious groups, sects, cults. Our government interferes with none of them. Separation of church and state does not only mean that the church shall not interfere with government; it means even more that the government shall not interfere in the life of any church.

According to the covenant of human rights, however, the government becomes the ruler of every church. Suppose some bureaucrat were to decide that circumcision was unhealthful, or that holy water carried germs, or that baptism increased the incidence of pneumonia or that Kosher meat was against public order!

Comparable ukases have been issued in the history of the human race. In the United States we say that the rites, rituals and disciplines of religious bodies are none of the business of the government, that for the state to interfere in such matters is a violation of the inalienable rights of the individual, bespoken in the Declaration of Independence.

But this you must note: If the Senate ratifies this covenant of human rights, it will have the force of an amendment to our Constitution. Can we afford to risk that?

The soundest procedure is to halt all these United Nations measures now. This is no time to give them consideration.

BARBITURATE INTOXICATION

Among the greatest drugs of modern times are the barbital or barbiturate drugs. While their particular use is a sedative, sleeping or quieting drug, they have revolutionized the treatment of epilepsy. Formerly, watching the diet and the use of bromine was the treatment used, but unfortunately bromides do not control attacks of epilepsy. Today thousands of epileptics are kept entirely free of attacks and many thousands more are able to live practically normal lives by the use of phenobarbital and following a diet. The "epilepsy diet" cuts down on all starch foods—potatoes, bread, sugar, pastries—and also on all liquids—water, tea, coffee, milk, soft and hard drinks—but increases the fat foods—butter, cream, egg yolk, fat meats.

However, like many other good things, because they are so good, so effective, many individuals take phenobarbital regularly to bring on sleep with the result that deaths or dangerous results occur from use of large doses. And because the sleep is so sound, drugs are now used to counteract poisoning or intoxication by phenobarbital that have a "wakeful" effect. Among these drugs are amphetamine and nikethamide.

In a report from Copenhagen in the Journal of the American Medical Association, Dr. J. Riishede states that during the first ten months of the period reported on, 61 patients with acute barbiturate intoxication were treated with nikethamide; in the following 21 months amphetamine was applied as a stimulant in 132 patients. The rest of the treatment was the same in the two groups—emptying the stomach, stimulating bowel action with prostigmin, preventing pneumonia, injection of fluids and treatment for shock.

Of the 61 patients treated with nikethamide 27, or 44 per cent died; of the 132 treated with amphetamine 12, or 9 per cent died. The course of the patients treated with amphetamine (benzedrine sulfate), was quiet, less capricious, and more favorable in all respects; the side effects are fewer and less important.

Amphetamine is, therefore, considered far superior to nikethamide in the treatment of acute barbiturate intoxication.

Amphetamine is the drug used in the treatment of alcoholism and also of obesity (overweight).

We've Known of Men Who Have Fallen Farther

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Every Wednesday morning, a handful of senators gathers quietly in the Senate dining room for prayer and worship. They try to keep this meeting secret between themselves and their maker, and the words they speak usually are more poignant and straight-from-the-heart than their speeches on the Senate floor. Such were the remarks last week of Virginia's Democratic Sen. A. Willis Robertson.

"A cynic has described the Old Testament as being a history of wars wrapped up in a prayer for peace," Robertson told the little band of senatorial worshipers. Then he outlined the wars that have raged over tiny Palestine, the cradle of Christianity.

Robertson thoughtfully added: "History teaches and science confirms that human nature in all races and in all ages has been very much the same, with a percentage of evil ones. History likewise teaches us that no nation has ever achieved lasting peace by superiority of arms. . . .

"The Jews of the first century wanted and expected a Messiah who would by force release them from bondage.

"In the present emergency," Robertson continued, "democratic nations may be able to assemble sufficient force to defeat the Communists on the battlefield. But such a victory would not settle the fundamental conflict between truth and error, between good and evil.

"Peace will, in my humble opinion, continue to escape the chancelleries of the world until it finds a home in the hearts of men," counseled the senator from Virginia.

Capital News Capsules

Byrnes and Acheson—Ex-Secretary of State Jimmie Byrnes, now governor of South Carolina, has assured Dean Acheson he will support him 100 per cent in his campaign to send six divisions of American troops to Europe this year. Byrnes passed along this news to Acheson through a North Carolinian, Undersecretary Webb, when Webb went to South Carolina to attend Byrnes's inauguration. Webb told Byrnes he would be welcome in Washington for consultations with Acheson on foreign policy.

Russian Jet Planes — General Vandenberg, air force chief of staff, is worried about the high quality of Russian jet fighters now in action over Korea. Despite the news headlines telling of American air victories, Vandenberg has a report on his desk indicating that the Russian MIG-15 and LA-17 fighters are highly maneuverable. What's even more disturbing is that the Russians are now getting into mass production of an even faster jet—the TU-10.

Austerity for Brass Hats?—Secretary of Defense Marshall has suggested that we are spoiling our G.I.'s with two much transportation, recreation, and costly coddling. However, why not let the army's austerity program begin with the brass hats — including their private air planes and limousines.

Ku Klux Klan — Maj. Gen. George Van Horn Moseley, U. S. Army retired, appealed to the Georgia parole board to release Emory Burke, leader of super-Ku Klux Klanism, the Columbians. In contrast, South Carolina's new governor, Jimmie Byrnes, has taken a forthright stand against the Klan while the Georgia legislature has legislatively ripped the hoods from all Klansmen.

Shakespeare to the Rescue — Archie Alexander, live-wire assistant secretary of the army, tried to recall a Biblical quotation which he said he wanted to use in a speech. Scouring the Pentagon, he couldn't find one Protestant Bible in the entire building. He even tried the office of Maj. Gen. Roy Parker, army chief of chaplains, but after a frantic search, a red-faced underling explained that General Parker was out and had taken his Bible with him. Finally, Alexander found a Bible on top of the desk of Gen. J. Lawton Collins, army chief of staff, but this turned out to be a Catholic Bible and didn't contain the quote Alexander had in mind. The harassed assistant secretary finally decided to quote Shakespeare instead.

Family Feud — Mobilization Boss Charlie Wilson really wanted to get rid of Price Administrator Mike Di Salle, not Economic Stabilization Director Alan Valentine. However, Di Salle was in too solid with President Truman, so Valentine got bounced instead. Angrily, Valentine, wrote three sizzling letters to Truman but tore up each of them before writing his mild letter of resignation. Meanwhile, Wilson is still calling Di Salle incompetent behind his back.

Rigid Controls

An important meeting on economic policy was held last week across the street from the White House, and, with the blessing of the President, these decisions were made:

1. A really tough program of price, wage, and scarce material controls will be instituted. Defense Mobilizer Charlie Wilson is afraid the defense program will be destroyed by inflation and production as usual, therefore wants strict controls soon.

2. First will be the price freeze. New economic policy-maker Eric Johnston and Price Administrator Mike Di Salle hope to get the order out immediately. Lights are burning in the price agency right now. This will be followed by specific price orders, and price rollbacks, in key cost-of-living and defense items. This is a victory for Mike Di Salle.

3. Action in the price field will pave the way for a wage freeze to prevent a round of wage increases this spring.

Note — Voluntary appeals against production-as-usual are not working, and orders limiting scarce materials and technical manpower are in the works. Nonessential production, especially in electronics, construction, and motor vehicles, will be curtailed.

Washington Pipeline

Ex-Sen. Frank Myers of Pennsylvania, Democrat, is planning to run against Sen. Ed Martin, Pennsylvania Republican . . . Senate GOP Secretary Mark Trice built a blazing fire in his office fireplace the other day though the temperature outside was near 80. Reason, he was burning a stock of secret Republican papers. First, however, he took the precaution of sealing each document in an envelope before burning, then bolting the door to keep out stray Democrats . . . Souvenir bricks and woodwork from the White House will be sold to the public beginning February 1. Each congressman has been given a quota for his constituents for the cost of mailing and handling. If you want a brick from the White House, write your congressman . . . Ambassador Robert Butler of Minnesota will soon resign as envoy to Cuba. He's looking for a bigger job . . . Vice President Alben Barkley has been released from Naval Hospital, where he went for a checkup following his strenuous election campaign of last fall. The Veep shed 29 and a half pounds.

United States Asks Whether This Country Is to Be Freed From Obligation

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Jan. 26—The United States is beginning to ask various governments directly whether their attitude of procrastination in the United Nations means that, in the event of an aggression committed against their respective territories, America is to be released from obligation to act promptly in branding and punishing such aggression.

To say that the American government is astonished by the strange behavior of various member governments of the U.N. is to put it mildly. It is doubtful if some of these governments themselves realize the extent to which they are jeopardizing the prospect of American protection for their interests in the future.

The United States went into Korea and has suffered 46,000 casualties in the belief that the members of the U.N. who voted to resist aggression in North Korea were sincere in that vote. If they did not mean what they said, then, in all candor, a resolution should be adopted at once rescinding and revoking that step and announcing to all the world that the members of the U.N. do not intend to resist any aggression in Europe or in Asia. This would give the United States a free hand.

The American taxpayer would be relieved, moreover, to discover that the $200,000,000, for instance, which India wants from our government for food is something that need not be spent, after all, because India's prime minister, having allied his government with the Moscow government, presumably could receive such aid from the Soviets.

The policy of the American government has never been one to tie in its financial or economic aid with any military alliance, but the 46,000 casualties in Korea in the face of the willingness of India to write off that entire adventure as an American blunder, and not a U.N. action at all, has aroused members of Congress. It is unlikely that India or any other nation will find Uncle Sam generous hereafter to governments that are unwilling to risk their troops in support of American troops.

The speech of Indian delegate Rau at the U.N. declaring that, since a lull in the fighting has occurred, there should be more and more palavering with the Chinese Communists produced a sickening impression here. It could not have been worse if India had openly stated her intention to become allied with Moscow.

Allied sea power has, temporarily at least, upset Communist China's strategy in Korea. This, more than any intentional suspension of hostilities on the battlefront, accounts for the lull in the fighting.

The Chinese face the prospect of an amphibious landing or the threat of such a maneuver, and they recall that a large number of North Korean troops were caught in a similar trap before.

As long as allied warships can move freely up and down the west coast of Korea and interfere with the landings of any supplies from Chinese ports and destroy not only port facilities but vital roads along the coast, the Chinese high command must face a serious menace to its rear.

Our naval power, incidentally, is not confined to bombardment from cruisers. Plenty of planes are flying from the decks of aircraft carriers, and their bombers are inflicting damage to supply lines as they operate alongside U. S. Air Force land-based planes which range the northern area, too. The air force is doing a wonderful job.

The average American who has been gathering defeatist impressions from the recent headlines about the strategic withdrawal of U.N. forces does not have a real conception of the extent of the damage done by sea power and air power in the last few weeks. The optimism which has been emanating from Washington and Tokyo in the last few days about the improved situation of our forces is based primarily on the tremendous losses being inflicted on the supply lines of the enemy.

In the course of reoccupying some of the areas which have been recently abandoned by the Communists, an opportunity has been afforded to make an actual count of some of the soldier dead of the enemy. In one place alone 2,200 dead troops were accounted for, and hence the belief has developed that Red China cannot indefinitely stand for losses, especially since she has her crack field army in Korea.

The U.N. can win in Korea, but the battle now is with the faint hearts and the craven intriguers in its own ranks.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Jan. 25—Some persons, not including this one, profess to abhor distinctions of race, ality and religion in our country and to regard these distinctions as immoral and "undemocratic."

As to whether they are "undemocratic" I defy any person to state a logical position, because "democracy" in the present meaning of the word is not a doctrine nor a theory or system of government. It is a fraudulent term used, often by ignorant persons but not less often by intellectual fakers, to describe an infamous mixture of socialism, miscegenation, graft, confiscation of property and denial of personal rights to individuals whose virtuous principles make them offensive. Although we have had the vile word "democracy" dinned in our ears by mountebanks and a host of impudent illiterates of the burlesque stage risen to wealth in Hollywood, no definition ever has been agreed upon and set forth.

When Eleanor Roosevelt speaks of "democracy" she must mean special privilege for the court favorites of the ruling house because she personally gave royal commands, which she had no conceivable right to issue, for special privilege for her two favorites, Earl Miller, the state trooper, and Joe Lash. The sons of the "common man" could take their chances in the draft and in the other processes of military enrollment and progress. But Miller had to have a soft job with lavish comfort in a safe berth ashore in Florida and Lash had to have a commission in the navy which he wasn't fit for—because she was their patroness and friend. These are the facts. I challenge any person to refute them.

"Democracy" means vulgarity, extravagance and hypocrisy. It means the persecution of all persons who oppose these corruptions of our great republic. It has meant the exploitation of our highest office for the personal greed of a brood so ill-raised and steeped in immorality that two of the sons flagrantly and notoriously imposed on their father's official position with the father's encouragement and their mother's active example.

"Democracy" has meant all this. It has been personified by individual men and women who were indifferent to the old standard virtues, public and private. Therefore, if it be said that distinctions between groups or elements of human beings who differ from one another are "undemocratic," that is no condemnation. It is a meaningless remark of no value whatever.

But are such distinctions, indeed discriminations, immoral? Are they wrong? Where shall we look for guidance on this?

Many of us still remember the tedious palaver that followed the first World War, the burden of which was that the rights of small nations must be respected by big ones and protected by a team of Big Brother nations. There was enormous talk of ethnical divisions among the people of the old Austro-Hungarian empire and of the legitimate yearnings of Pole and Serb and Croat and Balt to be free of the dominion of the "Polyglot Empire." That word "Polyglot" was commonly used and the intention was to deplore the condition of

Questions — Answers

Q—What is the origin of the military term "brass?"

A—The term "brass hat" is an outgrowth of World War I. In the slang of the British soldier a "brass hat" was a high-ranking general, so called from the gold braid worn on the cap. The term in American usage has been shortened to "brass" which now means the high command in general.

In the meantime ways must be found to lessen the impact of the immense clatter of machinery upon senses which nature had not prepared to withstand it.

In a New England town an aged man is reported to have worn the same hat for more than sixty years. This would point to a frugal gentleman, perhaps to a lover of old hats, or to the oft-heard assertion that things were made better in the good old days. But if every man wore one hat sixty years, how would the hatter make a living?

75-YEARS OF BASEBALL

Connie Mack is just an infant after all. The 86-year-old retired former manager of the Philadelphia Athletics was not scheduled to be the oldest guest present at the National League's celebration of its seventy-fifth birthday. All living player members of the Baseball Hall of Fame were on the invitation list, and many old-time players. The dean of the former players is the 91-year-old Arlie Latham, a star third baseman for Cincinnati and St. Louis in the nineties, famous also for his antics.

The next oldest former player is younger than Mack. He is the 81-year-old Kid Nichols, the unquestioned king of all pitchers when he worked for Boston in the nineties.

Baseball, like taxes, seems to have been with us always. It is odd to think that the first professional organization dates back only to 1876. There were teams for at least thirty years earlier, notably the Cincinnati Reds of 1869, who did not lose a game until some time in 1870. These teams were soon disbanded, however, and scheduled games at irregular intervals. The formation of a regular league ensured that every member team would meet every other team an equal number of times, and provided disciplinary machinery for expelling crooked players. Three such were thrown out only a year or two after the game started, and the example proved salutary.

Nowadays a major league believes it necessary to have its members located in the nation's largest cities. The National League did not always feel that way, or perhaps could not arrange it. At any rate its membership at times has included such smaller cities as Albany and Troy, New York, Worcester, Massachusetts, Providence, Rhode Island, and Hartford, Connecticut. These doubtless could not afford the salary scales prevailing today.

When setting up the family budget these days it is sometimes helpful to include a column of excuses for creditors.

EYES TO MATCH DRESSES

What won't the women do next? A late notion is to change the eye-color to match the ensemble. This is done through contact lenses, colored to suit. By paying merely $1,000 a woman can have eyes of four or five different hues.

How this will add to the disconcertment of the hapless male, who already has troubles enough! He takes a fancy to a blue-eyed blonde, and at the next moment of gazing soulfully into her eyes finds that they have become green or black. The shock might even cause him to lose his line of conversation.

Many a true word has been mistakenly regarded as a jest.

CALL A HALT!

Until it is decided what is to become of the United Nations, a halt should be called to some of the curious activities of that body.

For instance, a commission or something of UN is now engaged in defining the press. From what I can see of it, most of the efforts are designed to place limitations upon freedom of the press.

What most Americans forget is that the United Nations can lawfully legislate for the American people. A United Nations decision is binding upon us under the treaty which makes us a member of that body. Even should we vote against a measure, but not employ the veto, we are bound to adhere to it, if it is approved by the other members. In cases that have come before our courts, they have so held, as in the California alien land law case in 1948 (Oyama vs. California).

The California land law may or may not be wrong, but California should make her laws, not the United Nations. In fact, by virtue of the treaty, the United Nations has a wider power over our states than the Constitution gives to Congress.

So, that amazing universal declaration of human rights can be destructive of our way of life, because we balance obligations against rights. For instance, take Article 25 of that document:

"Everyone has the right to a standard of living adequate for the health and well-being of himself and of his family, including food, clothing, housing, and medical care and necessary social services, and the right to security. . . ."

Does that mean that we are to establish a socialist society in which every person is a slave to the state which levels all of us down to a minimum subsistence provided by the state?

And what are the obligations of the citizen to the state? No reference is made to that. It could be total and abject obedience.

So, the Genocide Convention comes before us again. This is a measure which may have much justification. Its inspiration was the wiping out of whole peoples by antagonistic governments.

Whatever the intentions of the Genocide Convention, however noble its motives, it would be possible under it for the United Nations to intervene in any state of our country on the assumption that the rights of a racial or a religious group were endangered.

Take, for instance, this provision in the covenant of human rights, which could become the law of our land:

"Freedom to manifest one's religion or beliefs shall be subject only to such limitations as are pursuant to law and are reasonable and necessary to protect public safety, order, health, or morals or the fundamental rights and freedoms of others."

Our system is incorporated in the first amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which provides:

"Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances."

We have in this country some 265 religious groups, sects, cults. Our government interferes with none of them. Separation of church and state does not only mean that the church shall not interfere with government; it means even more that the government shall not interfere in the life of any church.

According to the covenant of human rights, however, the government becomes the ruler of every church. Suppose some bureaucrat were to decide that circumcision was unhealthful, or that holy water carried germs, or that baptism increased the incidence of pneumonia or that Kosher meat was against public order!

Comparable ukases have been issued in the history of the human race. In the United States we say that the rites, rituals and disciplines of religious bodies are none of the business of the government, that for the state to interfere in such matters is a violation of the inalienable rights of the individual, bespoken in the Declaration of Independence.

But this you must note: If the Senate ratifies this covenant of human rights, it will have the force of an amendment to our Constitution. Can we afford to risk that?

The soundest procedure is to halt all these United Nations measures now. This is no time to give them consideration.

BARBITURATE INTOXICATION

Among the greatest drugs of modern times are the barbital or barbiturate drugs. While their particular use is a sedative, sleeping or quieting drug, they have revolutionized the treatment of epilepsy. Formerly, watching the diet and the use of bromine was the treatment used, but unfortunately bromides do not control attacks of epilepsy. Today thousands of epileptics are kept entirely free of attacks and many thousands more are able to live practically normal lives by the use of phenobarbital and following a diet. The "epilepsy diet" cuts down on all starch foods—potatoes, bread, sugar, pastries—and also on all liquids—water, tea, coffee, milk, soft and hard drinks—but increases the fat foods—butter, cream, egg yolk, fat meats.

However, like many other good things, because they are so good, so effective, many individuals take phenobarbital regularly to bring on sleep with the result that deaths or dangerous results occur from use of large doses. And because the sleep is so sound, drugs are now used to counteract poisoning or intoxication by phenobarbital that have a "wakeful" effect. Among these drugs are amphetamine and nikethamide.

In a report from Copenhagen in the Journal of the American Medical Association, Dr. J. Riishede states that during the first ten months of the period reported on, 61 patients with acute barbiturate intoxication were treated with nikethamide; in the following 21 months amphetamine was applied as a stimulant in 132 patients. The rest of the treatment was the same in the two groups—emptying the stomach, stimulating bowel action with prostigmin, preventing pneumonia, injection of fluids and treatment for shock.

Of the 61 patients treated with nikethamide 27, or 44 per cent died; of the 132 treated with amphetamine 12, or 9 per cent died. The course of the patients treated with amphetamine (benzedrine sulfate), was quiet, less capricious, and more favorable in all respects; the side effects are fewer and less important.

Amphetamine is, therefore, considered far superior to nikethamide in the treatment of acute barbiturate intoxication.

Amphetamine is the drug used in the treatment of alcoholism and also of obesity (overweight).

We've Known of Men Who Have Fallen Farther

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Every Wednesday morning, a handful of senators gathers quietly in the Senate dining room for prayer and worship. They try to keep this meeting secret between themselves and their maker, and the words they speak usually are more poignant and straight-from-the-heart than their speeches on the Senate floor. Such were the remarks last week of Virginia's Democratic Sen. A. Willis Robertson.

"A cynic has described the Old Testament as being a history of wars wrapped up in a prayer for peace," Robertson told the little band of senatorial worshipers. Then he outlined the wars that have raged over tiny Palestine, the cradle of Christianity.

Robertson thoughtfully added: "History teaches and science confirms that human nature in all races and in all ages has been very much the same, with a percentage of evil ones. History likewise teaches us that no nation has ever achieved lasting peace by superiority of arms...

"The Jews of the first century wanted and expected a Messiah who would by force release them from bondage.

"In the present emergency," Robertson continued, "democratic nations may be able to assemble sufficient force to defeat the Communists on the battlefield. But such a victory would not settle the fundamental conflict between truth and error, between good and evil.

"Peace will, in my humble opinion, continue to escape the chancellories of the world until it finds a home in the hearts of men," counseled the senator from Virginia.

Capital News Capsules

Byrnes and Acheson—Ex-Secretary of State Jimmie Byrnes, now governor of South Carolina, has assured Dean Acheson he will support him 100 per cent in his campaign to send six divisions of American troops to Europe this year. Byrnes passed along this news to Acheson through a North Carolinian, Undersecretary Webb, when Webb went to South Carolina to attend Byrnes's inauguration. Webb told Byrnes he would be welcome in Washington for consultations with Acheson on foreign policy.

Russian Jet Planes — General Vandenberg, air force chief of staff, is worried about the high quality of Russian jet fighters now in action over Korea. Despite the news headlines telling of American air victories, Vandenberg has a report on his desk indicating that the Russian MIG-15 and LA-17 fighters are highly maneuverable. What's even more disturbing is that the Russians are now getting into mass production of an even faster jet—the TU-10.

Austerity for Brass Hats?—Secretary of Defense Marshall has suggested that we are spoiling our G.I.'s with two much transportation, recreation, and costly coddling. However, why not let the army's austerity program begin with the brass hats — including their private air planes and limousines.

Ku Klux Klan — Maj. Gen. George Van Horn Moseley, U. S. Army retired, appealed to the Georgia parole board to release Emory Burke, leader of super-Ku Klux Klanism, the Columbians. In contrast, South Carolina's new governor, Jimmie Byrnes, has taken a forthright stand against the Klan while the Georgia legislature has legislatively ripped the hoods from all Klansmen.

Shakespeare to the Rescue — Archie Alexander, live-wire assistant secretary of the army, tried to recall a Biblical quotation which he said he wanted to use in a speech. Scouring the Pentagon, he couldn't find one Protestant Bible in the entire building. He even tried the office of Maj. Gen. Roy Parker, army chief of chaplains, but after a frantic search, a red-faced underling explained that General Parker was out and had taken his Bible with him. Finally, Alexander found a Bible on top of the desk of Gen. J. Lawton Collins, army chief of staff, but this turned out to be a Catholic Bible and didn't contain the quote Alexander had in mind. The harassed assistant secretary finally decided to quote Shakespeare instead.

Family Feud — Mobilization Boss Charlie Wilson really wanted to get rid of Price Administrator Mike Di Salle, not Economic Stabilization Director Alan Valentine. However, Di Salle was in too solid with President Truman, so Valentine got bounced instead. Angrily, Valentine, wrote three sizzling letters to Truman but tore up each of them before writing his mild letter of resignation. Meanwhile, Wilson is still calling Di Salle incompetent behind his back.

Rigid Controls

An important meeting on economic policy was held last week across the street from the White House, and, with the blessing of the President, these decisions were made:

1. A really tough program of price, wage, and scarce material controls will be instituted. Defense Mobilizer Charlie Wilson is afraid the defense program will be destroyed by inflation and production as usual, therefore wants strict controls soon.

2. First will be the price freeze. New economic policy-maker Eric Johnston and Price Administrator Mike Di Salle hope to get the order out immediately. Lights are burning in the price agency right now. This will be followed by specific price orders, and price rollbacks, in key cost-of-living and defense items. This is a victory for Mike Di Salle.

3. Action in the price field will pave the way for a wage freeze to prevent a round of wage increases this spring.

Note — Voluntary appeals against production-as-usual are not working, and orders limiting scarce materials and technical manpower are in the works. Nonessential production, especially in electronics, construction, and motor vehicles, will be curtailed.

Ex-Sen. Frank Myers of Pennsylvania, Democrat, is planning to run against Sen. Ed Martin, Pennsylvania Republican . . . First, however, he took the precaution of sealing each document in an envelope before burning, then bolting the door to keep out stray Democrats . . . Souvenir bricks and woodwork from the White House will be sold to the public beginning February 1. Each congressman has been given a quota for his constituents for the cost of mailing and handling. If you want a brick from the White House, write your congressman . . . Ambassador Robert Butler of Minnesota will soon resign as envoy to Cuba. He's looking for a bigger job . . . United States Asks Whether This Country Is to Be Freed From Obligation

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Jan. 26—The United States is beginning to ask various governments directly whether their attitude of procrastination in the United Nations means that, in the event of an aggression committed against their respective territories, America is to be released from obligation to act promptly in branding and punishing such aggression.

To say that the American government is astonished by the strange behavior of various member governments of the U.N. is to put it mildly. It is doubtful if some of these governments themselves realize the extent to which they are jeopardizing the prospect of American protection for their interests in the future.

The United States went into Korea and has suffered 46,000 casualties in the belief that the members of the U.N. who voted to resist aggression in North Korea were sincere in that vote. If they did not mean what they said, then, in all candor, a resolution should be adopted at once rescinding and revoking that step and announcing to all the world that the members of the U.N. do not intend to resist any aggression in Europe or in Asia. This would give the United States a free hand.

The American taxpayer would be relieved, moreover, to discover that the $200,000,000, for instance, which India wants from our government for food is something that need not be spent, after all, because India's prime minister, having allied his government with the Moscow government, presumably could receive such aid from the Soviets.

The policy of the American government has never been one to tie in its financial or economic aid with any military alliance, but the 46,000 casualties in Korea in the face of the willingness of India to write off that entire adventure as an American blunder, and not a U.N. action at all, has aroused members of Congress. It is unlikely that India or any other nation will find Uncle Sam generous hereafter to governments that are unwilling to risk their troops in support of American troops.

The speech of Indian delegate Rau at the U.N. declaring that, since a lull in the fighting has occurred, there should be more and more palavering with the Chinese Communists produced a sickening impression here. It could not have been worse if India had openly stated her intention to become allied with Moscow.

Allied sea power has, temporarily at least, upset Communist China's strategy in Korea. This, more than any intentional suspension of hostilities on the battlefront, accounts for the lull in the fighting.

The Chinese face the prospect of an amphibious landing or the threat of such a maneuver, and they recall that a large number of North Korean troops were caught in a similar trap before.

As long as allied warships can move freely up and down the west coast of Korea and interfere with the landings of any supplies from Chinese ports and destroy not only port facilities but vital roads along the coast, the Chinese high command must face a serious menace to its rear.

Our naval power, incidentally, is not confined to bombardment from cruisers. Plenty of planes are flying from the decks of aircraft carriers, and their bombers are inflicting damage to supply lines as they operate alongside U. S. Air Force land-based planes which range the northern area, too. The air force is doing a wonderful job.

The average American who has been gathering defeatist impressions from the recent headlines about the strategic withdrawal of U.N. forces does not have a real conception of the extent of the damage done by sea power and air power in the last few weeks. The optimism which has been emanating from Washington and Tokyo in the last few days about the improved situation of our forces is based primarily on the tremendous losses being inflicted on the supply lines of the enemy.

In the course of reoccupying some of the areas which have been recently abandoned by the Communists, an opportunity has been afforded to make an actual count of some of the soldier dead of the enemy. In one place alone 2,200 dead troops were accounted for, and hence the belief has developed that Red China cannot indefinitely stand for losses, especially since she has her crack field army in Korea.

The U.N. can win in Korea, but the battle now is with the faint hearts and the craven intriguers in its own ranks.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Jan. 25—Some persons, not including this one, profess to abhor distinctions of race, and religion in our country and to regard these distinctions as immoral and "undemocratic."

As to whether they are "undemocratic" I defy any person to state a logical position, because "democracy" in the present meaning of the word is not a doctrine nor a theory or system of government. It is a fraudulent term used, often by ignorant persons but not less often by intellectual fakers, to describe an infamous mixture of socialism, miscegenation, graft, confiscation of property and denial of personal rights to individuals whose virtuous principles make them offensive. Although we have had the vile word "democracy" dinned in our ears by mountebanks and a host of impudent illiterates of the burlesque stage risen to wealth in Hollywood, no definition ever has been agreed upon and set forth.

When Eleanor Roosevelt speaks of "democracy" she must mean special privilege for the court favorites of the ruling house because she personally gave royal commands, which she had no conceivable right to issue, for special privilege for her two favorites, Earl Miller, the state trooper, and Joe Lash. The sons of the "common man" could take their chances in the draft and in the other processes of military enrollment and progress. But Miller had to have a soft job with lavish comfort in a safe berth ashore in Florida and Lash had to have a commission in the navy which he wasn't fit for—because she was their patroness and friend. These are the facts. I challenge any person to refute them.

"Democracy" means vulgarity, extravagance and hypocrisy. It means the persecution of all persons who oppose these corruptions of our great republic. It has meant the exploitation of our highest office for the personal greed of a brood so ill-raised and steeped in immorality that two of the sons flagrantly and notoriously imposed on their father's official position with the father's encouragement and their mother's active example.

"Democracy" has meant all this. It has been personified by individual men and women who were indifferent to the old standard virtues, public and private. Therefore, if it be said that distinctions between groups or elements of human beings who differ from one another are "undemocratic," that is no condemnation. It is a meaningless remark of no value whatever.

But are such distinctions, indeed discriminations, immoral? Are they wrong? Where shall we look for guidance on this?

Many of us still remember the tedious palaver that followed the first World War, the burden of which was that the rights of small nations must be respected by big ones and protected by a team of Big Brother nations. There was enormous talk of ethnical divisions among the people of the old Austro-Hungarian empire and of the legitimate yearnings of Pole and Serb and Croat and Balt to be free of the dominion of the "Polyglot Empire." That word "Polyglot" was commonly used and the intention was to deplore the condition of

Questions — Answers

Q—What is the origin of the military term "brass?"

A—The term "brass hat" is an outgrowth of World War I. In the slang of the British soldier a "brass hat" was a high-ranking general, so called from the gold braid worn on the cap. The term in American usage has been shortened to "brass" which now means the high command in general.

Q—Is copper an important export of Chili?

A—Yes. About one-sixth of the world's copper comes from this South American country.

BABSON on BUSINESS

Babson Park, Mass., Jan. 26—Have just telephoned an important brokerage house in New York city to ask its opinion on the stock market. The reply was: "We guess the market is finally getting high enough for the public to buy."

The Dow-Jones Industrial Averages struck a high of 381 in 1929; they fell to 41 in 1932; they rose to 194 in 1937; fell again to 93 in 1942; rose again to 212 in 1946, from which they declined until a few months ago. They are now around 245, the high for 20 years; but this statement applies to only 30 stocks out of over 1,000 stocks. Many good stocks are now selling for less than they did in 1946, or earlier. Many people say: "All stocks have gone up except those which I hold. What is the reason?" The truth is just the reverse of this. Only a very few stocks are selling at their "20-year highs."

All the above causes the wisest investors to be neither bullish nor bearish just now. They believe stocks are good for income, but not for speculation. The stock market is very selective and the war outlook is very uncertain—either way. We are now doing right to prepare actively for World War 3: but it may not come for years. Our hurried preparations may be useless.

What Mr. Hoover Believes

Mr. Hoover apparently believes that, unless there is a revolution in Russia, all of Europe—war or no war—may, for a period of years, try communism and that no War 3 car prevent it. He also thinks that the Russians now have no intention of striking North or South America unless we attack Russia. He believes we should now avoid war and concentrate on strengthening the United States militarily, economically and spiritually until the Europeans unite and show an enthusiasm to fight communism. Under this Hoover Policy our markets should hold up.

If we should get into war with Russia and one or more of our cities are bombed, the Stock Exchanges would be closed to prevent financial panic. Everything—securities, commodities, rents, banks and wages—would be frozen. We would be ruled by a dictator and stocks would go down. Those who expect war should not buy stocks—certainly not unless they are very carefully selected by experts. Inflation, however, should help a few stocks.

Stocks Vs. Homes

Certainly, anyone who does not own a house and an acre of land in a safe country village, should make such his first investment—war or no war. Many such places—well located, with water, fuel and neighbors—can be purchased today for one-third what it would cost to build them. I'm not advising their purchase for immediate occupancy; but for insurance and security.

Next, keep healthy, have a good bank account and a job which will give you a living. If you are dependent partly on investment income, then buy a very broad list of 30 stocks which have paid dividends for many years and which should give you about 5 per cent. If your local bank is unable to supply you with such a list, the bank can send to me at 270 Washington street, Wellesley Hills, Massachusetts, and I will freely send such a list to the bank for you.

Bing Credits Prayers

Hollywood, Jan 26. (AP) — Bing Crosby today disclosed that his success is due to his mother's prayers. "If I've been lucky—and I certainly have been inordinately lucky—I think you have to attribute it to the efficacy of prayer," the millionaire crooner said in a tape-recorded radio interview. The interview, one of a series on the occasion of his 20th anniversary as a star, was made with William Tusher, American Broadcasting Company Hollywood commentator. It will be aired Sunday night over ABC. "Ever since I was a little boy she prayed for all of us daily and had Masses said for us and Rosaries," Crosby said. "The nuns up in our parish (Spokane, Wash.) are a cloistered order. She used to take them meals and take their laundry out for them and do all kinds of things. And they always prayed for me and for the family."

As Pegler Sees It

many peoples in compulsory association. They didn't like one another.

So we undertook to set them up as nations and to draw thin, meandering lines from village to village and even from tree to tree to establish each group as a "people" having ethnical entity. It was the bill-of-goods of the Bleeding Hearts of Versailles that peoples were separated by differences in religion, customs, dialect, stature, complexion, prejudices and even "traits." That was respectable thinking then and it was true.

Woodrow Wilson tried to engage us to go to war to maintain those separations. This part of it was sheer idiocy, of course. The people of the United States had been marrying and begetting across many of these old European lines. We had, in Minnesota and Wisconsin, for example, children of Irish-Swedish parents making dates and fixing to marry children of Polish-Italian parents. But that wasn't the reason why it was a lunatic notion to pledge the blood of these beautiful and happy American admixtures to fight to maintain the ancient right of some freckle-faced tribe in the Carpathians to the pathway between two blades of grass threatened by a tribe of bow-legged aggressors. It was terribly wrong because our people never had authorized Woodrow Wilson to make any such commitment. This senile fanatic, with the typical contempt of the towering, disembodied intellect for the human rights and feelings of the "masses," had taken it on himself to do this. His support came not from the people, but from the same cheap, ignorant kind of congressmen who now have the criminal effrontery to hold that we gave Truman a right to send innocent regiments abroad to redeem the heinous follies of Yalta and Potsdam.

It is a queer paradox that although we recognize, indeed maintain, raciality and other ethnical distinctions in Europe, the more eagerly when it serves the purpose of some clamorous group adept at pressure in our domestic politics, we take the absolutely opposite position here at home. Overseas we recognize the existence of Chinese, Japanese, Mohammedans and the paler peoples of the ukulele islands. But in the United States it is a serious offense against "democracy," and may soon be a felony, to apply the same honest intelligence to a parallel case. In Europe there are Poles, Ukrainians, Finns, Germans, Greeks and Irish. There are also Catholics, Lutherans, and Jews. We engage to keep them from each other's throat. At home there are none of these, except that by a marvel of hypocrisy we do acknowledge these distinctions when some dervish wants to create an issue of "discrimination" and "persecution."

This is an ideal manifestation of "democracy."

What is the TRUTH?

At various stages in the present dispute with the brotherhoods of railroad operating employees

... the railroads agreed to arbitrate. The union leaders refused.

... the railroads accepted the recommendations of President Truman's Emergency Board. The union leaders refused.

... the railroads accepted the White House proposal of August 19, 1950. The union leaders refused.

Finally an Agreement was signed at the White House on December 21, 1950. Now the union leaders seek to repudiate the Agreement.

EASTERN SOUTHEASTERN WESTERN RAILROADS

BABSON on BUSINESS

Babson Park, Mass., Jan. 26—Have just telephoned an important brokerage house in New York city to ask its opinion on the stock market. The reply was: "We guess the market is finally getting high enough for the public to buy."

The Dow-Jones Industrial Averages struck a high of 381 in 1929; they fell to 41 in 1932; they rose to 194 in 1937; fell again to 93 in 1942; rose again to 212 in 1946, from which they declined until a few months ago. They are now around 245, the high for 20 years; but this statement applies to only 30 stocks out of over 1,000 stocks. Many good stocks are now selling for less than they did in 1946, or earlier. Many people say: "All stocks have gone up except those which I hold. What is the reason?" The truth is just the reverse of this. Only a very few stocks are selling at their "20-year highs."

All the above causes the wisest investors to be neither bullish nor bearish just now. They believe stocks are good for income, but not for speculation. The stock market is very selective and the war outlook is very uncertain—either way. We are now doing right to prepare actively for World War 3; but it may not come for years. Our hurried preparations may be useless.

What Mr. Hoover Believes

Mr. Hoover apparently believes that, unless there is a revolution in Russia, all of Europe—war or no war—may, for a period of years, try communism and that no War 3 car prevent it. He also thinks that the Russians now have no intention of striking North or South America unless we attack Russia. He believes we should now avoid war and concentrate on strengthening the United States militarily, economically and spiritually until the Europeans unite and show an enthusiasm to fight communism. Under this Hoover Policy our markets should hold up.

If we should get into war with Russia and one or more of our cities are bombed, the Stock Exchanges would be closed to prevent financial panic. Everything—securities, commodities, rents, banks and wages—would be frozen. We would be ruled by a dictator and stocks would go down. Those who expect war should not buy stocks—certainly not unless they are very carefully selected by experts. Inflation, however, should help a few stocks.

Stocks Vs. Homes

Certainly, anyone who does not own a house and an acre of land in a safe country village, should make such his first investment—war or no war. Many such places—well located, with water, fuel and neighbors—can be purchased today for one-third what it would cost to build them. I'm not advising their purchase for immediate occupancy; but for insurance and security.

Next, keep healthy, have a good bank account and a job which will give you a living. If you are dependent partly on investment income, then buy a very broad list of 30 stocks which have paid dividends for many years and which should give you about 5 per cent. If your local bank is unable to supply you with such a list, the bank can send to me at 270 Washington street, Wellesley Hills, Massachusetts, and I will freely send such a list to the bank for you.

Bing Credits Prayers

Hollywood, Jan 26. (AP) — Bing Crosby today disclosed that his success is due to his mother's prayers. "If I've been lucky—and I certainly have been inordinately lucky—I think you have to attribute it to the efficacy of prayer," the millionaire crooner said in a tape-recorded radio interview. The interview, one of a series on the occasion of his 20th anniversary as a star, was made with William Tusher, American Broadcasting Company Hollywood commentator. It will be aired Sunday night over ABC. "Ever since I was a little boy she prayed for all of us daily and had Masses said for us and Rosaries," Crosby said. "The nuns up in our parish (Spokane, Wash.) are a cloistered order. She used to take them meals and take their laundry out for them and do all kinds of things. And they always prayed for me and for the family."

Approximately one-third of the Dominion of Canada's lumber exports go to the United States.

As Pegler Sees It

many peoples in compulsory association. They didn't like one another.

So we undertook to set them up as nations and to draw thin, meandering lines from village to village and even from tree to tree to establish each group as a "people" having ethnical entity. It was the bill-of-goods of the Bleeding Hearts of Versailles that peoples were separated by differences in religion, customs, dialect, stature, complexion, prejudices and even "traits." That was respectable thinking then and it was true.

Woodrow Wilson tried to engage us to go to war to maintain those separations. This part of it was sheer idiocy, of course. The people of the United States had been marrying and begetting across many of these old European lines. We had, in Minnesota and Wisconsin, for example, children of Irish-Swedish parents making dates and fixing to marry children of Polish-Italian parents. But that wasn't the reason why it was a lunatic notion to pledge the blood of these beautiful and happy American admixtures to fight to maintain the ancient right of some freckle-faced tribe in the Carpathians to the pathway between two blades of grass threatened by a tribe of bow-legged aggressors. It was terribly wrong because our people never had authorized Woodrow Wilson to make any such commitment. This senile fanatic, with the typical contempt of the towering, disembodied intellect for the human rights and feelings of the "masses," had taken it on himself to do this. His support came not from the people, but from the same cheap, ignorant kind of congressmen who now have the criminal effrontery to hold that we gave Truman a right to send innocent regiments abroad to redeem the heinous follies of Yalta and Potsdam.

It is a queer paradox that although we recognize, indeed maintain, raciality and other ethnical distinctions in Europe, the more eagerly when it serves the purpose of some clamorous group adept at pressure in our domestic politics, we take the absolutely opposite position here at home. Overseas we recognize the existence of Chinese, Japanese, Mohammedans and the paler peoples of the ukulele islands. But in the United States it is a serious offense against "democracy," and may soon be a felony, to apply the same honest intelligence to a parallel case. In Europe there are Poles, Ukrainians, Finns, Germans, Greeks and Irish. There are also Catholics, Lutherans, and Jews. We engage to keep them from each other's throat. At home there are none of these, except that by a marvel of hypocrisy we do acknowledge these distinctions when some dervish wants to create an issue of "discrimination" and "persecution."

This is an ideal manifestation of "democracy."

SHOKAN NEWS

Shokan, Jan. 25 — Joseph DeWitt, former Shokan boy and War 2 veteran of the Italian campaign, came up from Kingston the other day to look over his bungalow property on the Onteora Trail.

George Hand, Woodstock milk distributor, reportedly will erect a 60x100-foot garage on his Shokan property in the east end of the village. Current work on the Hand development is confined to construction of a rock-base driveway leading in from the Trail.

Word has reached here that Mrs. John L. VanValkenburgh celebrated her 91st birthday at her home January 5. "Aunt Phoebe Van," noted for her keen sense of humor, has made her home in Roxbury for 72 years.

Sunday school hours at the three churches of the Ashokan Methodist charge are as follows: West Hurley, 11:30 a. m.; Glenford, 1:30 p. m.; and Ashokan, 10 a. m. Superintendents of the three schools, respectively, are Allen Rowe, Arthur Gray and Donald DuBois.

Elder Arnold H. Bellows, pastor of the local O. S. Baptist Church, recently addressed the congregation of the Welsh Tract Old School Baptist Church at Newark, Del. The elder also preached at Halcottville during the month.

Roger Gordon DuBois, a popular member of the youngest set in the twin villages, will celebrate his third birthday Sunday, Jan. 28. The young man, son of Robert and Margaret (Grossman) DuBois, is one of several grandchildren of Lemuel E. DuBois, Republic war-horse of old Olive.

Dutch Reformed readers will be interested to learn that the Rev. Anno C. Dykema, 71, died Jan. 6, at Kirkside, Roxbury. Dominie Dykema was the first clergyman to die at this home for retired Reformed ministers, formerly the summer residence of Mrs. Finley Shepard (Helen Gould).

The heavy rain and accompanying thaw of Tuesday night freed the ice-locked local streams and sent an immense volume of water down into the two basins of the Ashokan. The East Butternutkill, for one, went way out of bounds and brought rain and melted snow water down from the Tice TenEyck mountain at mill-race speed. No reports of silver iodide performances have been heard (as was the case following the November flood. Nature seems to have done it—all by herself).

John A. Hathmaker was numbered among the callers in the hub of the reservoir country Wednesday.

Something new is being added at the junction of the Woodstock road with the Onteora Trail: Ground has been broken for a a filling station at this busy West Hurley point and the "George Ed" Wilber home on the site is being moved to a new foundation a few yards farther down the trail.

Town Clerk Delia Lewis of Olive Bridge suburbs was a caller here the latter part of the week. Mrs. Lewis has received an inquiry from a middle west resident asking for information about a Stephen Sheldon who is thought to have made his home in the reservoir country some years ago.

Alfred Iapoce is driving truck for the state highway department which has men working along the trail at Stony Hollow. Ditching is being done on the north side of the road, and the accumulation of shale which keeps sliding down the steep bank is hauled away for fill on the lower side of the trail.

Hundreds of eggs were picked up by local residents and passers-by following the fatal truck accident here January 15. One man salvaged about 400 and distributed them around to neighbors. While another, a motorist, used his hip boots as an improvised egg container.

Central Hudson crews have erected a heavy pole near the corner store to help care for the increasing business in the village. A huge power-driven augur was employed to bore the hole. There was little or no frost in the ground, though boulders peculiar to our rocky terrain made the job an onerous procedure. These tall poles are said to cost $40 apiece, and the labor item for each setting must be aplenty.

Levan Merrihew, Kingston scion of old Olive stock and head of the Pine Hill bus line, is reported to have gone on a two-weeks quail hunting trip down south in company with Ward Reynolds of Fleischmanns.

SHOKAN NEWS

Shokan, Jan. 25 — Joseph DeWitt, former Shokan boy and War 2 veteran of the Italian campaign, came up from Kingston the other day to look over his bungalow property on the Onteora Trail.

George Hand, Woodstock milk distributor, reportedly will erect a 60x100-foot garage on his Shokan property in the east end of the village. Current work on the Hand development is confined to construction of a rock-base driveway leading in from the Trail.

Word has reached here that Mrs. John L. VanValkenburgh celebrated her 91st birthday at her home January 5. "Aunt Phoebe Van," noted for her keen sense of humor, has made her home in Roxbury for 72 years.

Sunday school hours at the three churches of the Ashokan Methodist charge are as follows: West Hurley, 11:30 a. m.; Glenford, 1:30 p. m.; and Ashokan, 10 a. m. Superintendents of the three schools, respectively, are Allen Rowe, Arthur Gray and Donald DuBois.

Elder Arnold H. Bellows, pastor of the local O. S. Baptist Church, recently addressed the congregation of the Welsh Tract Old School Baptist Church at Newark, Del. The elder also preached at Halcottville during the month.

Roger Gordon DuBois, a popular member of the youngest set in the twin villages, will celebrate his third birthday Sunday, Jan. 28. The young man, son of Robert and Margaret (Grossman) DuBois, is one of several grandchildren of Lemuel E. DuBois, Republic war-horse of old Olive.

Dutch Reformed readers will be interested to learn that the Rev. Anno C. Dykema, 71, died Jan. 6, at Kirkside, Roxbury. Dominie Dykema was the first clergyman to die at this home for retired Reformed ministers, formerly the summer residence of Mrs. Finley Shepard (Helen Gould).

The heavy rain and accompanying thaw of Tuesday night freed the ice-locked local streams and sent an immense volume of water down into the two basins of the Ashokan. The East Butternutkill, for one, went way out of bounds and brought rain and melted snow water down from the Tice TenEyck mountain at mill-race speed. No reports of silver iodide performances have been heard (as was the case following the November flood. Nature seems to have done it—all by herself).

John A. Hathmaker was numbered among the callers in the hub of the reservoir country Wednesday.

Something new is being added at the junction of the Woodstock road with the Onteora Trail: Ground has been broken for a a filling station at this busy West Hurley point and the "George Ed" Wilber home on the site is being moved to a new foundation a few yards farther down the trail.

Town Clerk Delia Lewis of Olive Bridge suburbs was a caller here the latter part of the week. Mrs. Lewis has received an inquiry from a middle west resident asking for information about a Stephen Sheldon who is thought to have made his home in the reservoir country some years ago.

Alfred Iapoce is driving truck for the state highway department which has men working along the trail at Stony Hollow. Ditching is being done on the north side of the road, and the accumulation of shale which keeps sliding down the steep bank is hauled away for fill on the lower side of the trail.

Hundreds of eggs were picked up by local residents and passers-by following the fatal truck accident here January 15. One man salvaged about 400 and distributed them around to neighbors. While another, a motorist, used his hip boots as an improvised egg container.

Central Hudson crews have erected a heavy pole near the corner store to help care for the increasing business in the village. A huge power-driven augur was employed to bore the hole. There was little or no frost in the ground, though boulders peculiar to our rocky terrain made the job an onerous procedure. These tall poles are said to cost $40 apiece, and the labor item for each setting must be aplenty.

Levan Merrihew, Kingston scion of old Olive stock and head of the Pine Hill bus line, is reported to have gone on a two-weeks quail hunting trip down south in company with Ward Reynolds of Fleischmanns.

According to advance reports from Stephen Huben, March of Dimes chairman for Rosendale, the Community Get-to-Gether dance scheduled Saturday night, January 27, at the Williams Lake Hotel, promises to be a popular affair.

Early reports from various groups also indicate a good attendance at the annual dance.

Huben, in reporting the dance today, said gratfying response has been given by Leonard Albert from the Tillson section, Louis Moestra for the Rosendale Fire Department, also by spokesmen of the American Legion, Rosendale-Tillson Post, and from individuals in the Cottekill area.

Charles Reilly, Fred Sauer, and Joe Reid also have indicated that response to the ticket sale in Bloomington has been heavy.

Group singing of old and new songs, in addition to dancing, will go to make up the program for Saturday night's affair.

Good Taste Today

by Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

TODAY'S INCONSISTENT DRESSING

A prospective hostess explains as follows: "We're giving a buffet supper at our club, in honor of our 25th wedding anniversary. Most people take an invitation to a buffet supper to mean informality, even to the extent that the men come in business suits. Women, needing no encouragement to dress, generally outdress the men. We'd like this particular party to be just a little more formal than an ordinary party. How can we tell the men that we would like them to wear tuxedos?"

Until a few years ago an invitation to an anniversary party given in the evening would have meant that the gentlemen would appear in evening clothes. The only decision to be made there was between tail coats and tuxedos. Today, I have to agree with you that the decision may be between tuxedos and business suits. Instead of specifying "White ties" or "Black ties" it quite definitely will be wiser for you to add "Tuxedos Please" at the end of your invitation.

Card Prizes

Dear Mrs. Post: At a shower the other day for a prospective mother, the card prizes were all baby presents. Obviously the winners were expected to turn them over to the guest of honor. As it happens some of us have small babies of our own and we felt that we should be permitted to keep the prizes. What is your opinion?

Answer: I always have agreed that the custom in certain localities of turning over the "high-score prize" to the guest of honor, instead of its being kept by the winner, is not only unfair but ridiculous. But I have to concede that there is nothing that one individual can do against this practice without running the risk of being considered very rude.

Clothes of Honorary Pallbearers

Dear Mrs. Post: Do the honorary pallbearers at a funeral wear black gloves and black ties?

Answer: Yes, if they wear formal day clothes (striped trousers and black coats). Otherwise gloves are not required.

Golden Wedding

The following was written for the golden wedding anniversary of John and Mollie Bode, January 23, 1951:

Today we celebrate, by golly,
The Golden Anniversary of John and Mollie;
For 50 long years they've lived together,
In fair, as well as stormy weather.
In the days of old when the outlook was brighter,
They plied the waters on a big steam lighter.
Mollie was cook, and John the engineer;
As a seaman, I tell you, he had no peer.
Through all those years they were both quite lucky.
I recall when they lived in old Ponckhockie.
From Walnut street they moved to Abruyn,
Where they made their home for many a moon.
From Ponckhockie they moved to Hoffman street.
They'd now become one of Kingston's elite.
They sold the lighter, no more to roam;
They decided to enjoy their home.
From the briny deep to Freeman Square
John held the job as janitor there;
He also there the boiler fired.
But the last few years he's been retired.
Although this poem is punk and folly,
'Twill ever remind us of John and Mollie;
Their memory we will always treasure;
God bless them now with double measure.

Birthday Party

Mrs. Alta Cross of 136 Prospect street and Mrs. Albert Sherman of Stone Ridge were tendered a surprise birthday party Monday night at the home of Mrs. Carl Rudolph.

The evening was spent in playing games after which refreshments were served.

Those attending were the Mmes. Samuel Astolas, Howard Hinkley, William McGowan, Joseph Gallagher, Wesley Cramer, Marvin Jones, Martin Oberkirk; also Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Christiana, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Rudolph, Patricia and Alvena Rudolph.

Horticultural Group Hears of Fashions And Fabric Motifs

Those attending the afternoon meeting, yesterday, of the Women's Group of the Horticultural Society at the First Baptist Church, heard a preview of spring fashions; a description of New York state pattern motifs developed by a celanese corporation; and a verbal-visual description of how to make apple crisp.

Mrs. C. C. DuMond, Jr., chairman of the Women's Group, introduced the first speaker, Mrs. Roger Loughran, who described current fashion trends, and gave detailed fashion notes taken from a recent New York fashion forum.

Keynoting her remarks to the prevalent fear of international upheaval, Mrs. Loughran stressed "we just don't know what's going to happen," adding that if international trouble continues, shortages are imminent. Manufacturers are already receiving letters describing the curtailments, she said. "It is my personal feeling when we go into the stores in the next few months," the speaker added, "we are going to be very exacting buyers."

The Feminine Trend

"We are getting into an era," Mrs. Loughran continued, "that is very feminine, and very lovely. All the fashions are very simple, and very easy to wear."

She then described the newest suits, cut with nipped-in waists, turned back cuffs, and a standing collar line; small feminine hats, designed to perch on top of the head, or to one side, revealing more of the hair than hats did in previous years; the increasingly popular cape and bolero dress; coat fashions stressing fullness at the back, wide sleeves, and a flaring collar; and the popularity of pure silk shantungs, which "are coming beautifully into their own."

"The average person," she stressed, "always looks better in a dark dress with simple lines." Wardrobe basics, she said, should include one dress in black or navy, and another in gray.

Current fashion trends, she concluded, should prove a boon to the older woman and with fashion houses now making all the newest fashions in the larger sizes, "there just aren't any old ladies' clothes any more."

Styles Modeled

During Mrs. Loughran's talk Mrs. Arnold Johnson of Hurley modeled three new spring styles in cotton. The first was a double breasted plaid cotton suit, made for all-day wear, with a strapless camisole blouse for evening parties.

The second, a two-piece business cotton, featured a solid colored gray skirt, with a checked yellow top, to be worn with black accessories.

The third dress, made from a soft, medium shade blue linen fabric, was cut on simple basic lines, with one deep pleat in the front of the skirt, which was completed with a wrap-around effect at the back.

New York Motifs

The second speaker, Mrs. Mildred Meskil, Albany head of the Women's program of the New York State Department of Commerce, described this year's celanese prints, which use familiar New York state themes, scenes, and lore as background motifs.

Mrs. Meskil, whose own dress was a celanese print of old jars and bowls in Shaker orange, explained how the corporation had based its entire print production this year on New York themes.

Some of the many samples she brought with her included a wagon wheel print; a Staffordshire pattern which she illustrated with an old Staffordshire teapot which had been in her own family since the 18th century; a pattern based on old hand-blown bottles; a print made up of typical New York scenes from the now extinct Hudson river sidewheelers to Gramercy Park; and a block print taken from old butter molds.

Mrs. Meskill also told of how representatives from the corporation went to Cooperstown and the Farmer's Museum, where many of their patterns originated.

4-H Demonstration

Third and last speaker of the afternoon was 12 year old Carol Birdsall of Salt Point, Dutchess county, a member of the 4-H Club there. In addition to demonstrating the proper procedure used in making apple crisp, the serious-faced young Miss told her audience of the nutritive values of apples, and described their various uses from apple pie, to Waldorf salad.

Polio Patient Solicits for Campaign

Good Taste Today

A prospective hostess explains as follows: "We're giving a buffet supper at our club, in honor of our 25th wedding anniversary. Most people take an invitation to a buffet supper to mean informality, even to the extent that the men come in business suits. Women, needing no encouragement to dress, generally outdress the men. We'd like this particular party to be just a little more formal than an ordinary party. How can we tell the men that we would like them to wear tuxedos?"

Until a few years ago an invitation to an anniversary party given in the evening would have meant that the gentlemen would appear in evening clothes. The only decision to be made there was between tail coats and tuxedos. Today, I have to agree with you that the decision may be between tuxedos and business suits. Instead of specifying "White ties" or "Black ties" it quite definitely will be wiser for you to add "Tuxedos Please" at the end of your invitation.

Card Prizes

Dear Mrs. Post: At a shower the other day for a prospective mother, the card prizes were all baby presents. Obviously the winners were expected to turn them over to the guest of honor. As it happens some of us have small babies of our own and we felt that we should be permitted to keep the prizes. What is your opinion?

Answer: I always have agreed that the custom in certain localities of turning over the "high-score prize" to the guest of honor, instead of its being kept by the winner, is not only unfair but ridiculous. But I have to concede that there is nothing that one individual can do against this practice without running the risk of being considered very rude.

Clothes of Honorary Pallbearers

Dear Mrs. Post: Do the honorary pallbearers at a funeral wear black gloves and black ties?

Answer: Yes, if they wear formal day clothes (striped trousers and black coats). Otherwise gloves are not required.

Golden Wedding

The following was written for the golden wedding anniversary of John and Mollie Bode, January 23, 1951:

Today we celebrate, by golly,
The Golden Anniversary of John and Mollie;
For 50 long years they've lived together,
In fair, as well as stormy weather.
In the days of old when the outlook was brighter,
They plied the waters on a big steam lighter.
Mollie was cook, and John the engineer;
As a seaman, I tell you, he had no peer.
Through all those years they were both quite lucky.
I recall when they lived in old Ponckhockie.
From Walnut street they moved to Abruyn,
Where they made their home for many a moon.
From Ponckhockie they moved to Hoffman street.
They'd now become one of Kingston's elite.
They sold the lighter, no more to roam;
They decided to enjoy their home.
From the briny deep to Freeman Square;
John held the job as janitor there;
He also there the boiler fired.
But the last few years he's been retired.
Although this poem is punk and folly,
'Twill ever remind us of John and Mollie;
Their memory we will always treasure;
God bless them now with double measure.

Birthday Party

Mrs. Alta Cross of 136 Prospect street and Mrs. Albert Sherman of Stone Ridge were tendered a surprise birthday party Monday night at the home of Mrs. Carl Rudolph.

The evening was spent in playing games after which refreshments were served.

Those attending were the Mmes. Samuel Astolas, Howard Hinkley, William McGowan, Joseph Gallagher, Wesley Cramer, Marvin Jones, Martin Oberkirk; also Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Christiana, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Rudolph, Patricia and Alvena Rudolph.

Horticultural Group Hears of Fashions And Fabric Motifs

Those attending the afternoon meeting, yesterday, of the Women's Group of the Horticultural Society at the First Baptist Church, heard a preview of spring fashions; a description of New York state pattern motifs developed by a celanese corporation; and a verbal-visual description of how to make apple crisp.

Mrs. C. C. DuMond, Jr., chairman of the Women's Group, introduced the first speaker, Mrs. Roger Loughran, who described current fashion trends, and gave detailed fashion notes taken from a recent New York fashion forum.

Keynoting her remarks to the prevalent fear of international upheaval, Mrs. Loughran stressed "we just don't know what's going to happen," adding that if international trouble continues, shortages are imminent. Manufacturers are already receiving letters describing the curtailments, she said. "It is my personal feeling when we go into the stores in the next few months," the speaker added, "we are going to be very exacting buyers."

The Feminine Trend

"We are getting into an era," Mrs. Loughran continued, "that is very feminine, and very lovely. All the fashions are very simple, and very easy to wear."

She then described the newest suits, cut with nipped-in waists, turned back cuffs, and a standing collar line; small feminine hats, designed to perch on top of the head, or to one side, revealing more of the hair than hats did in previous years; the increasingly popular cape and bolero dress; coat fashions stressing fullness at the back, wide sleeves, and a flaring collar; and the popularity of pure silk shantungs, which "are coming beautifully into their own."

"The average person," she stressed, "always looks better in a dark dress with simple lines." Wardrobe basics, she said, should include one dress in black or navy, and another in gray.

Current fashion trends, she concluded, should prove a boon to the older woman and with fashion houses now making all the newest fashions in the larger sizes, "there just aren't any old ladies' clothes any more."

Styles Modeled

During Mrs. Loughran's talk Mrs. Arnold Johnson of Hurley modeled three new spring styles in cotton. The first was a double breasted plaid cotton suit, made for all-day wear, with a strapless camisole blouse for evening parties.

The second, a two-piece business cotton, featured a solid colored gray skirt, with a checked yellow top, to be worn with black accessories.

The third dress, made from a soft, medium shade blue linen fabric, was cut on simple basic lines, with one deep pleat in the front of the skirt, which was completed with a wrap-around effect at the back.

New York Motifs

The second speaker, Mrs. Mildred Meskil, Albany head of the Women's program of the New York State Department of Commerce, described this year's celanese prints, which use familiar New York state themes, scenes, and lore as background motifs.

Mrs. Meskil, whose own dress was a celanese print of old jars and bowls in Shaker orange, explained how the corporation had based its entire print production this year on New York themes.

Some of the many samples she brought with her included a wagon wheel print; a Staffordshire pattern which she illustrated with an old Staffordshire teapot which had been in her own family since the 18th century; a pattern based on old hand-blown bottles; a print made up of typical New York scenes from the now extinct Hudson river sidewheelers to Gramercy Park; and a block print taken from old butter molds.

Mrs. Meskill also told of how representatives from the corporation went to Cooperstown and the Farmer's Museum, where many of their patterns originated.

4-H Demonstration

Third and last speaker of the afternoon was 12 year old Carol Birdsall of Salt Point, Dutchess county, a member of the 4-H Club there. In addition to demonstrating the proper procedure used in making apple crisp, the serious-faced young Miss told her audience of the nutritive values of apples, and described their various uses from apple pie, to Waldorf salad.

Price Rules Need Adjusting Yearly, DuMond Declares

C. Chester DuMond, of Ulster Park, state commissioner of agriculture and markets, urged in a luncheon address here on Thursday that price controls be put on an annual basis.

Addressing members of the Kingston Kiwanis Club at a meeting at the Governor Clinton Hotel, DuMond made it clear that he did not fully favor price controls, but indicated that if the country must have controls, then they should be re-examined each year by Congress and renewed if necessary.

Terming price controls a "distortion" of the normal economy, he said, "if Congress makes this distortion, we should make sure we have a recovery clause."

"Remember how hard it was to get rid of the O.P.A.," he stated, recalling the period after World War 2.

Opinion of Majority

DuMond said he was expressing what he believed to be the opinion of the majority of northeastern U. S. farmers in regard to government controls. His talk at the Kiwanis Club was planned to coincide with the eastern meeting of the New York State Horticultural Society now in session here.

Commenting upon the status of apple growers, who comprise the major portion of the membership of the Horticultural Society, DuMond said they "probably have gone through as bad a period in the past two or three years as in history."

The milk dealers "did pretty well" during the same period, illustrating that the milk business can be run efficiently "with a certain amount of government control . . . provided it is applied wisely," he said.

Many Farms Unprofitable

Stressing the need for efficiency in farming, DuMond said that 90 per cent of the food produced in the U. S. comes from only 50 per cent of the farms, showing that "a lot of farms are just about self-sustaining."

He contended that the family sized farm can be operated just as efficiently as the large farms, but that the family farmer must be much more of a businessman than the "old time farmers" in order to do so.

"I believe the (Northeastern) farmers are against the setting of controlled prices on anything, at any level," he said, warning that such control stifles production.

Sees Big Black Market

Price control, he said, will lead to black marketeering "in a way that you and I have never seen in our lives." It will also lead to inflation because people are made to think they have more money than they actually have, he said.

DuMond said he was disturbed by the lack of a willingness to sacrifice during this emergency. "People think they can spend billions and still not make a sacrifice," he said. He noted that cancellations of "E" bonds are exceeding sales.

DuMond was introduced at the Kiwanis meeting by Pratt Boice of the club's agriculture and conservation committee.

Five Are Killed At U. S. Arsenal

Dover, N. J., Jan. 26 (AP)—A tongue of searing flame flicked through 62-tons of gunpowder, flared up "like 10,000 photographers' flashbulbs" and roasted five workers to death yesterday at Picatinny arsenal.

Four others were critically burned in the split-second fire which erupted in a small building where they were blending powder for artillery shells.

Although brought under control quickly, news of the blaze spread like wildfire over the surrounding countryside — wracked many times by explosions and fires at the ancient, 3-100-acre arsenal which supplies the U. S. army with most of its heavy ammunition.

While crowds gathered at Dover General Hospital for news of friends and relatives, relay teams of state police rushed in extra blood plasma from New York and Trenton and arsenal officers sought an explanation for the fire.

There was no explosion and no other buildings were affected. The closest structure is 200-feet away.

The arsenal public information office said the nine men were in the 40-by-40-foot building when flames broke out at about 3:30 p. m. (E.S.T.). He said the building contained 125,000 pounds of smokeless gunpowder.

Most of the dead and injured were from the Newark area.

Discusses Defense

Tokyo, Jan. 26 (AP)—Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida said today Japan must consider measures of self defense even though she cannot adequately rearm. He cautioned legislators in a State of the Nation speech to be discreet in discussing rearmament. The subject already has caused "needless misgivings at home and abroad," Yoshida said. "It is a matter of course that we should protect and defend our country by ourselves," he told both houses of the Diet (parliament). "Any adequate rearming is an economic impossibility for defeated Japan." Japan's new constitution bans military services and armament.

St. James W.S.C.S. Hears Talk on Group Worship and County Children's Court

A review of the last chapters of the study book, "We Seek Him Together," was given by Mrs. James Guttridge who opened the 11 o'clock session of the Women's Society for Christian Service of St. James Methodist Church Wednesday. She discussed group worship and symbolism of the church explaining that everyone must have symbols to express feelings.

The tabernacle, she stated, is a symbol of God's presence; the cross, a symbol of Christian faith. The speaker gave the meanings of the many different crosses, among them the Latin, Greek, Celtic and Maltese as well as many other symbols of the church, saying that the church building is itself a symbol of "our worship." She described St. James as the Puritan form.

The speaker went on to add that the great interdenominational fellowship meetings held at Amsterdam, Holland, and in Cleveland, O., increased the sense of united fellowship.

She later compared the latent powers in everyone developing through the ministry of group worship to the beautiful yellow mastodon flower in Alaska. She added, "when centuries of layers of pre-historic animals were excavated from the soil underneath and when exposed there blossomed the lovely flower called the mastodon."

Dorothy Tarr of the youth group led the devotions and Margaret Clearwater from the junior department sang "I Would Be True."

Luncheon was served by Mrs. G. V. D. Hutton and Mrs. Alfred Schmid. During the news flashes period two members of the Youth Fellowship were introduced—Neil Croswell who told in interesting detail of the youth conferences held in Stamford in October and in Newburgh during December. Barbara Hearst later described the summer institute at Carmel.

The Rev. Dr. Ralph M. Houston, pastor of the church, told his listeners that the church will be ready to care for any evacuees during an emergency.

Afternoon Session

Judge John M. Cashin was the afternoon speaker and described his duties as head of the Children's Court dealing with boys and girls from seven to 16 years of age.

All information is confidential, he said, with two or three courses open after obtaining evidence in various cases.

Outlining these he said a child may be put on probation, can be sent to an institution or industrial school or live in cottages where trades and general education are taught.

The speaker said 99 per cent of the children make good and are grateful for the opportunity. He also said that children may be sent to religious schools of their own denomination and if they adjust themselves they may later take their place in society.

He also spoke of the neglected children coming from broken homes or those where parents are indifferent. Welfare workers handle these cases, he said, and children are often sent to foster homes. He added that children also may be sent into denominational homes and are taught as in school.

Judge Cashin charged that the total lack of home environment and lack of religious training are the two causes of juvenile delinquency and said that he always asks this as the first question, "to what church do you belong?"

Case Is Cited

The speaker cited a specific case of what kindness in his own home did for a boy who eventually led all his classes and became a church member. "Environment had nearly ruined this boy," Judge Cashin commented.

He added that due to so many pitfalls today, fundamentals are the answer. Discipline and the difference between right and wrong must be taught in the home, church and school, he stressed.

He said "a child is bad only if conditions are such as he cannot control. There must be respect for the mother and father."

He also spoke of the criminal cases in the Ulster county court up to and including murder in the first degree. The speaker added "criminals always have some weakness or mental quirk. Where the mind is warped a psychiatric cure is needed. Many crimes are not visions," he said.

Closing his talk, Judge Cashin urged that churches get into the homes.

It also was announced at the meeting that on Thursday nights during Lent there will be covered dish suppers followed by speakers. The Willt Evening Circle will sponsor a pancake and sausage supper Wednesday, January 31, from 5 to 7 p. m.

Five Are Killed At U. S. Arsenal

Dover, N. J., Jan. 26 (AP)—A tongue of searing flame flicked through 62-tons of gunpowder, flared up "like 10,000 photographers' flashbulbs" and roasted five workers to death yesterday at Picatinny arsenal.

Four others were critically burned in the split-second fire which erupted in a small building where they were blending powder for artillery shells.

Although brought under control quickly, news of the blaze spread like wildfire over the surrounding countryside — wracked many times by explosions and fires at the ancient, 3-100-acre arsenal which supplies the U. S. army with most of its heavy ammunition.

While crowds gathered at Dover General Hospital for news of friends and relatives, relay teams of state police rushed in extra blood plasma from New York and Trenton and arsenal officers sought an explanation for the fire.

There was no explosion and no other buildings were affected. The closest structure is 200-feet away.

The arsenal public information office said the nine men were in the 40-by-40-foot building when flames broke out at about 3:30 p. m. (E.S.T.). He said the building contained 125,000 pounds of smokeless gunpowder.

Most of the dead and injured were from the Newark area.

Discusses Defense

Tokyo, Jan. 26 (AP)—Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida said today Japan must consider measures of self defense even though she cannot adequately rearm. He cautioned legislators in a State of the Nation speech to be discreet in discussing rearmament. The subject already has caused "needless misgivings at home and abroad," Yoshida said. "It is a matter of course that we should protect and defend our country by ourselves," he told both houses of the Diet (parliament). "Any adequate rearming is an economic impossibility for defeated Japan." Japan's new constitution bans military services and armament.

St. James W.S.C.S. Hears Talk on Group Worship and County Children's Court

A review of the last chapters of the study book, "We Seek Him Together," was given by Mrs. James Guttridge who opened the 11 o'clock session of the Women's Society for Christian Service of St. James Methodist Church Wednesday. She discussed group worship and symbolism of the church explaining that everyone must have symbols to express feelings.

The tabernacle, she stated, is a symbol of God's presence; the cross, a symbol of Christian faith. The speaker gave the meanings of the many different crosses, among them the Latin, Greek, Celtic and Maltese as well as many other symbols of the church, saying that the church building is itself a symbol of "our worship." She described St. James as the Puritan form.

The speaker went on to add that the great interdenominational fellowship meetings held at Amsterdam, Holland, and in Cleveland, O., increased the sense of united fellowship.

She later compared the latent powers in everyone developing through the ministry of group worship to the beautiful yellow mastodon flower in Alaska. She added, "when centuries of layers of pre-historic animals were excavated from the soil underneath and when exposed there blossomed the lovely flower called the mastodon."

Dorothy Tarr of the youth group led the devotions and Margaret Clearwater from the junior department sang "I Would Be True."

Luncheon was served by Mrs. G. V. D. Hutton and Mrs. Alfred Schmid. During the news flashes period two members of the Youth Fellowship were introduced—Neil Croswell who told in interesting detail of the youth conferences held in Stamford in October and in Newburgh during December. Barbara Hearst later described the summer institute at Carmel.

The Rev. Dr. Ralph M. Houston, pastor of the church, told his listeners that the church will be ready to care for any evacuees during an emergency.

Afternoon Session

Judge John M. Cashin was the afternoon speaker and described his duties as head of the Children's Court dealing with boys and girls from seven to 16 years of age.

All information is confidential, he said, with two or three courses open after obtaining evidence in various cases.

Outlining these he said a child may be put on probation, can be sent to an institution or industrial school or live in cottages where trades and general education are taught.

The speaker said 99 per cent of the children make good and are grateful for the opportunity. He also said that children may be sent to religious schools of their own denomination and if they adjust themselves they may later take their place in society.

He also spoke of the neglected children coming from broken homes or those where parents are indifferent. Welfare workers handle these cases, he said, and children are often sent to foster homes. He added that children also may be sent into denominational homes and are taught as in school.

Judge Cashin charged that the total lack of home environment and lack of religious training are the two causes of juvenile delinquency and said that he always asks this as the first question, "to what church do you belong?"

Case Is Cited

The speaker cited a specific case of what kindness in his own home did for a boy who eventually led all his classes and became a church member. "Environment had nearly ruined this boy," Judge Cashin commented.

He added that due to so many pitfalls today, fundamentals are the answer. Discipline and the difference between right and wrong must be taught in the home, church and school, he stressed.

He said "a child is bad only if conditions are such as he cannot control. There must be respect for the mother and father."

He also spoke of the criminal cases in the Ulster county court up to and including murder in the first degree. The speaker added "criminals always have some weakness or mental quirk. Where the mind is warped a psychiatric cure is needed. Many crimes are not visions," he said.

Closing his talk, Judge Cashin urged that churches get into the homes.

It also was announced at the meeting that on Thursday nights during Lent there will be covered dish suppers followed by speakers. The Willt Evening Circle will sponsor a pancake and sausage supper Wednesday, January 31, from 5 to 7 p. m.

Lord Carlton and Tarzan Hewitt Featured on Mat Card Saturday

English Star And Top Badman At Auditorium

Three Bouts Make Up All-Star Show

Lord Leslie Carlton of England and Tarzan Hewitt, wrestling's top badman, headline the professional wrestling card Saturday night at the municipal auditorium.

The first bout is scheduled for 8:45 p. m.

Carlton, one of the most colorful mat stars in the business today, engages in a return match with the only American wrestler ever to beat him — handsome Bobby Becker of Hollywood.

Tarzan "Poodles" Hewitt will meet the popular Italian star, Chick Garibaldi, in the 45-minute time limit semi-final match.

The 45-minute opening bout pits Irish Paddy Mack of Dublin, Ireland, against Johnny Jeidermann, the rugged Italo-German from Milan, Italy.

The three-bout card, embracing a pair of 45-minute time limits and the feature event to a finish is a new departure from the usual format of four bouts.

Two Big Names

"In Carlton and Hewitt, Kingston fans are seeing two of the biggest drawing cards in the game today," Promoter Bill Johnston said. "Normally, one of these stars alone is able to carry the show."

Although Carlton, the man who enters the ring with a valet and wearing a mopocle, is in the top spot, it's a better than even bet that the sensational Hewitt will steal the show.

Hewitt, who is recognized as the top television wrestling star is one of the dirtiest men in the game. His rough tactics and villainous technique have caused him to be hated by wrestling fans everywhere and everyone wants to see him get his block knocked off.

Garibaldi, who is a clean and scientific wrestler, might be able to do it.

Promoter Johnston reported a good advance sale of tickets with heavy delegations of fans expected from Newburgh and Poughkeepsie. Fans from these cities turned out in heavy numbers for the Primo Carnera, Mr. America and Argentine Rocca exhibitions and are expected out in greater volume to see Hewitt, the TV beauty, who wrecks rings and forces police intervention just often enough to maintain his reputation.

Reserved seat reservations can be made by calling the Tommy Maines Sport Shop in Kingston.

Gavilan Choice Over Paddy Young

New York, Jan. 26 (AP)—Bolo-punching Kid Gavilan is the choice over Irish Paddy Young from New York's Greenwich Village tonight in a 10-round catchweight match at Madison Square Garden. The Cuban keed probably will go into the ring a 7 to 5 favorite.

This is a battle of toughies who duck nobody. Young, a legitimate middleweight making 155 pounds for this bout, has fought the best in his class. In his last out he barely lost to Laurent Dauthuille, the Frenchman who almost lifted Jake LaMotta's title.

Gavilan also takes them all on. Ike Williams three times. Ray Robinson twice. Dauthuille and Robert Villemain. Up and down the weight scale as long as the money is handy. As the ranking welterweight contender, he could move in if Ray Robinson gives up the tiltle.

Plan Would Give Game to Colleges

New York, Jan. 26 (AP)—Bobby Sand, assistant basketball coach at CCNY, today advocated formation of a six-team Metropolitan College conference with a strong commissioner in complete charge of games played in Madison Square Garden.

Sand, who emphasized that he was not speaking for his college but was merely expressing the views of a basketball lover, said he would like to see a conference made up of New York U., CCNY, Long Island U., Fordham, St. John's and Manhattan.

Sand would have each team meet other members twice. Each Garden basketball date would have at least one intra-city game.

In addition to the intra-city games, Sand said the schools should try to build up more outside rivalries, such as the St. John's - Kentucky and Notre Dame-NYU games which have become traditional affairs.

Under Sand's plan, the commissioner would have final control over questions of scheduling, conduct of games and of players.

Asked for comment on Sand's idea, Ned Irish, executive director of the Garden, said "the schools can do what they like about scheduling."

"We do not have anything to do with it," said Irish. "We just allocate the dates to the schools. They make up their own schedules. We are interested simply as landlords."

Plans similar to Sand's have been suggested before. One of the chief stumbling blocks is getting the schools to see eye to eye. None of the others, for instance, play Long Island. Fordham doesn't play in the Garden.

Believe Coast Will Keep Bowl

San Francisco, Jan. 26 (AP) — Speculation whether the Pacific Coast Conference may sever its time honored affiliation with the Rose Bowl football game is "pure guesswork" in the opinion of one highly placed conference official.

Requesting anonymity, this source expressed the belief the conference would continue its agreement with the Tournament of Roses Association. He agreed it was possible — but added he thought it "improbable"—the pact would be ended.

Talk that such members as Washington State, Idaho, Oregon State, and Oregon may be in accord on the idea of abandoning the Rose Bowl tieup seems contrary to the present financial arrangement of the conference," the official said.

"These small schools would face the loss of a share of the Rose Bowl receipts, which amounts to about $6,000 each. They use this money largely to contribute to the salary of the conference commissioner and the expenses of operating his office. Without the receipts from the Rose Bowl game, they would be placed in the position of having to dig up the money from other sources. This is an expenditure some of them could ill afford." Under coast conference rules, each member shares in the Rose Bowl receipts.

C.Y.O. County Basketball Tourney Expected to Attract 20 Quintets

Starts February 28 At Auditorium

Preliminary plans for the first annual Ulster county C.Y.O. basketball tournament were completed last night at an enthusiastic meeting of school officials and players at St. Mary's Hall.

Leo Schupp, athletic director of the county C.Y.O., said a final organization meeting is scheduled for Thursday, Feb. 15, when all entries must be in.

Schupp predicted an entry of at least 20 teams for the tournament scheduled to start at the municipal auditorium on February 28. Other dates are March 7-14-15.

The tournament will be divided into three divisions with a 10-man team roster limit: Juniors, any boy who had not reached his 16th birthday by Jan. 1; Metropolitan, any boy who had not reached his 18th birthday by Jan. 1; and seniors, any player 18 years or over.

Players were restricted to one team and each squad must be made up of players from the parish represented. Official rosters may be secured from the pastor of each parish or from county director Schupp.

The tournament is operated in conjunction with the annual basketball playoffs in the New York Archdiocese. More than 5,000 players take part in the various C.Y.O. tournaments every year, Schupp said.

Lord Carlton and Tarzan Hewitt Featured on Mat Card Saturday

English Star And Top Badman At Auditorium

Three Bouts Make Up All-Star Show

Lord Leslie Carlton of England and Tarzan Hewitt, wrestling's top badman, headline the professional wrestling card Saturday night at the municipal auditorium.

The first bout is scheduled for 8:45 p. m.

Carlton, one of the most colorful mat stars in the business today, engages in a return match with the only American wrestler ever to beat him — handsome Bobby Becker of Hollywood.

Tarzan "Poodles" Hewitt will meet the popular Italian star, Chick Garibaldi, in the 45-minute time limit semi-final match.

The 45-minute opening bout pits Irish Paddy Mack of Dublin, Ireland, against Johnny Jeidermann, the rugged Italo-German from Milan, Italy.

The three-bout card, embracing a pair of 45-minute time limits and the feature event to a finish is a new departure from the usual format of four bouts.

Two Big Names

"In Carlton and Hewitt, Kingston fans are seeing two of the biggest drawing cards in the game today," Promoter Bill Johnston said. "Normally, one of these stars alone is able to carry the show."

Although Carlton, the man who enters the ring with a valet and wearing a mogocle, is in the top spot, it's a better than even bet that the sensational Hewitt will steal the show.

Hewitt, who is recognized as the top television wrestling star is one of the dirtiest men in the game. His rough tactics and villainous technique have caused him to be hated by wrestling fans everywhere and everyone wants to see him get his block knocked off.

Garibaldi, who is a clean and scientific wrestler, might be able to do it.

Promoter Johnston reported a good advance sale of tickets with heavy delegations of fans expected from Newburgh and Poughkeepsie. Fans from these cities turned out in heavy numbers for the Primo Carnera, Mr. America and Argentine Rocca exhibitions and are expected out in greater volume to see Hewitt, the TV beauty, who wrecks rings and forces police intervention just often enough to maintain his reputation.

Reserved seat reservations can be made by calling the Tommy Maines Sport Shop in Kingston.

He has 16 perfect games to his credit. McMahon will roll against Rose Schatzel and members of the Adirondack Trailway squad. There is no admission charge and the public is invited. (Freeman Photo)

Six School Basketball Conference Advocated for Games at Garden

Plan Would Give Game to Colleges

New York, Jan. 26 (AP)—Bobby Sand, assistant basketball coach at CCNY, today advocated formation of a six-team Metropolitan College conference with a strong commissioner in complete charge of games played in Madison Square Garden.

Sand, who emphasized that he was not speaking for his college but was merely expressing the views of a basketball lover, said he would like to see a conference made up of New York U., CCNY, Long Island U., Fordham, St. John's and Manhattan.

Sand would have each team meet other members twice. Each Garden basketball date would have at least one intra-city game.

In addition to the intra-city games, Sand said the schools should try to build up more outside rivalries, such as the St. John's-Kentucky and Notre Dame-NYU games which have become traditional affairs.

Under Sand's plan, the commissioner would have final control over questions of scheduling, conduct of games and of players.

Asked for comment on Sand's idea, Ned Irish, executive director of the Garden, said "the schools can do what they like about scheduling."

"We do not have anything to do with it," said Irish. "We just allocate the dates to the schools. They make up their own schedules. We are interested simply as landlords."

Plans similar to Sand's have been suggested before. One of the chief stumbling blocks is getting the schools to see eye to eye. None of the others, for instance, play Long Island. Fordham doesn't play in the Garden.

(IN BRIEF)
(By The Associated Press)

Phoenix, Ariz. — Ben Hogan, U. S. Open champion, began 1951 play with a six-under-par 65 to lead first round of $10,000 Phoenix Open.

Miami, Fla.—Defending champion Polly Riley beat Betty Mackinnon, 4 and 3, to lead field into quarter finals of Helen Lee Doherty Women's Amateur.

Washington — Washington Redskins of National Football League renewed contract of Coach Herman Ball for one year.

Gavilan Choice Over Paddy Young

New York, Jan. 26 (AP)—Bolo-punching Kid Gavilan is the choice over Irish Paddy Young from New York's Greenwich Village tonight in a 10-round catchweight match at Madison Square Garden. The Cuban keed probably will go into the ring a 7 to 5 favorite.

This is a battle of toughies who duck nobody. Young, a legitimate middleweight making 155 pounds for this bout, has fought the best in his class. In his last out he barely lost to Laurent Dauthuille, the Frenchman who almost lifted Jake LaMotta's title.

Gavilan also takes them all on. Ike Williams three times. Ray Robinson twice. Dauthuille and Robert Villemain. Up and down the weight scale as long as the money is handy. As the ranking welterweight contender, he could move in if Ray Robinson gives up the tiltle.

Believe Coast Will Keep Bowl

San Francisco, Jan. 26 (AP) — Speculation whether the Pacific Coast Conference may sever its time honored affiliation with the Rose Bowl football game is "pure guesswork" in the opinion of one highly placed conference official.

Requesting anonymity, this source expressed the belief the conference would continue its agreement with the Tournament of Roses Association. He agreed it was possible — but added he thought it "improbable"—the pact would be ended.

"Talk that such members as Washington State, Idaho, Oregon State and Oregon may be in accord on the idea of abandoning the Rose Bowl tieup seems contrary to the present financial arrangement of the conference," the official said.

"These small schools would face the loss of a share of the Rose Bowl receipts, which amounts to about $6,000 each. They use this money largely to contribute to the salary of the conference commissioner and the expenses of operating his office. Without the receipts from the Rose Bowl game, they would be placed in the position of having to dig up the money from other sources. This is an expenditure some of them could ill afford." Under coast conference rules, each member shares in the Rose Bowl receipts.

C.Y.O. County Basketball Tourney Expected to Attract 20 Quintets

Starts February 28 At Auditorium

Preliminary plans for the first annual Ulster county C.Y.O. basketball tournament were completed last night at an enthusiastic meeting of school officials and players at St. Mary's Hall.

Leo Schupp, athletic director of the county C.Y.O., said a final organization meeting is scheduled for Thursday, Feb. 15, when all entries must be in.

Schupp predicted an entry of at least 20 teams for the tournament scheduled to start at the municipal auditorium on February 28. Other dates are March 7-14-15.

The tournament will be divided into three divisions with a 10-man team roster limit: Juniors, any boy who had not reached his 16th birthday by Jan. 1; Metropolitan, any boy who had not reached his 18th birthday by Jan. 1; and seniors, any player 18 years or over.

Players were restricted to one team and each squad must be made up of players from the parish represented. Official rosters may be secured from the pastor of each parish or from county director Schupp.

The tournament is operated in conjunction with the annual basketball playoffs in the New York Archdiocese. More than 5,000 players take part in the various C.Y.O. tournaments every year, Schupp said.

Freshman Rule Due for Revival

New York, Jan. 26 (AP)—Unless the international situation turns for the better, freshmen can expect to play varsity football at the nation's colleges next fall.

A check-up of the 10 major college conferences by The Associated Press indicated this today. All of the conferences either have considered or are expected to bring up the question of using freshmen on varsity athletic teams. Undoubtedly, the smaller college conferences are discussing the same thing.

With national defense leaders and Congress tackling a bill calling for drafting of 18-year-olds, several college groups already have met to talk about the freshmen. The rule, barring first-year students from varsity teams, went out the collegiate window during the last war. Many a "greenie" starred on the varsity in his first year at college.

There's no indication yet that colleges plan to ram through any change to allow freshmen to compete in spring sports such as track and baseball. Most of the conference talk looks to the new term next fall.

Already in the present emergency, several colleges have abandoned football for the duration, or indefinitely. They include Duquesne, St. Mary's (Calif.), Hartwick (N. Y.), High Point (N. C.), Mt. St. Mary's (Md.), Corpus Christi U. (Tex.), and Portland (Ore.) University.

Schools are reluctant to do away with football, for that sport pays the way in most cases for the rest of the athletic program.

Tennis Stardom Beckoned Henie

New York, Jan. 26 (AP)—Maybe you didn't know it, but Sonja Henie might have become the world's greatest tennis player instead of diamond-studded queen of the ice rinks.

It was touch and go for a while, the blonde Norwegian skater said as she discussed her big decision last night shortly before going out to do her graceful whirls with her Hollywood ice show at Madison Square Garden.

"I was still in my teens when I went to Germany to learn the language," Miss Henie said. "I began playing tennis under the famous Czech professional, Karel Kozeluh.

"Later I played in our own Norwegian Nationals and gained the ranking of No. 2. I won the doubles. But I had to make a decision. I couldn't both skate and play tennis. I chose skating, although Mr. Kozeluh said I could be world champion in tennis."

The 38-year-old Pavlowa of the ice certainly has had no reason to regret it. She won every top honor in existence in skating before turning professional to reap millions of dollars.

Charles-Maxim Match

Chicago, Jan. 25 (AP)—The Chicago Tribune said today that the International Boxing Club will match heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles against Joey Maxim in a title fight here in June. Maxim is the current light heavyweight champion. The Tribune said Truman Gibson, Chicago chief of the I.B.C., of which former champion Joe Louis is part owner, made the announcement.

General on Visit

U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, Jan. 26 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, two hand grenades strapped to the webbing of his paratrooper uniform, today toured the western front where his Eighth Army troops are probing deep into Communist lines. The general described his visit as "one of my regular" tours of the men at the front. Ridgway stopped at an infantry mess to eat with the soldiers. The menu: spam, dehydrated potatoes and raw onions.

IT'S SAFER! HIGH VELOCITY LOADS MOVING A LIGHT WEIGHT BULLET 3,000 FT. PER SECOND OR BETTER, DISINTEGRATE UPON STRIKING OBJECTS INSTEAD OF RICOCHETING AS A .22 WILL DO. THE SLOWER .22 IS LESS NOISY BUT UPON CONTACT IT MAY DANGEROUSLY GLANCE OFF WITH A SICKENING WHINE, TO STRIKE AGAIN, PERHAPS A HALF MILE AWAY. THEREFORE, A HIGH VELOCITY IS THE SAFER. 1-26

Nobody was surprised when Peter Leventritt and Ruth Sherman won the mixed pair event in the American Contract Bridge League's national championship in New Orleans last December. Both are among the leading players of the younger crop of experts.

The hand shown today gives some idea of the precision with which they bid and play.

Leventritt's first two bids indicated a hand that was too strong for one no-trump but not strong enough for two no-trump. Miss Sherman read the message accurately, and very properly decided that her hand would offer a fine play for twelve tricks but not an adequate play for thirteen. She therefore went right to the small slam.

West opened the four of spades, and Leventritt won in dummy with the queen. His next step was to lead a heart from dummy and let the opponents win it.

As it happened, West won with the ten of hearts and returned the jack of spades. Dummy won with the king, and East discarded a low heart.

Peter proceeded to cash his high cards in hearts and clubs. On the last of these tricks West was squeezed. He could save only five cards, but he needed four diamonds to prevent dummy from winning a trick with a low diamond, and two spades to prevent South from winning a trick with a low spade.

The key play was the loss of a heart at the second trick. This made it possible for Leventritt to develop the squeeze eventually. If declarer had simply cashed his high cards without giving up a heart trick, he would have been set.

Romance Brings Stabbing

New York, Jan. 26 (AP)—A romance begun two years ago at the Metropolitan Opera ended last night in the fatal stabbing of pretty, blonde Virginia Wilson, 24, and the arrest on a homicide charge of her suitor, 43-year-old Rolando Scioli. Police said Scioli, a radio mechanic, walked up to officers in a parked police car in Brooklyn and said: "I just stabbed my girl friend. I've had a lot of trouble with her for the past two years. What I went through for two years, you wouldn't know."

London, Jan. 26 (AP)—A spokesman at Prime Minister Clement Attlee's office declined comment today on a message from leaders of Newark Veterans of Foreign Wars, who said they were sending the British leader an umbrella as a symbol of appeasement. "We don't make a point of commenting on the private correspondence the price minister receives," the spokesman said.

Four Are Accused

New York, Jan. 26 (AP)—Four men were booked by police early today on charges of assault, robbery and violation of the anti-weapons law. They were listed as Theodore Nickerson, 24, a cook of Hazardville, Conn., Louis J. Acampora, 23, auto mechanic, of the Bronx, Glenn Kimbrell, 20, of Haverhill, Mass., and Frank Barta, 24, of Manhattan. The four were accused of a $100 holdup at the Warrington Hotel, Manhattan, on Jan. 23. Detectives said the prisons had planned to hold up a Howard Johnson restaurant in the Bronx and also had planned holdups in Newark, and Somerville, N. J.

Freshman Rule Due for Revival

New York, Jan. 26 (AP)—Unless the international situation turns for the better, freshmen can expect to play varsity football at the nation's colleges next fall.

A check-up of the 10 major college conferences by The Associated Press indicated this today. All of the conferences either have considered or are expected to bring up the question of using freshmen on varsity athletic teams. Undoubtedly, the smaller college conferences are discussing the same thing.

With national defense leaders and Congress tackling a bill calling for drafting of 18-year-olds, several college groups already have met to talk about the freshmen. The rule, barring first-year students from varsity teams, went out the collegiate window during the last war. Many a "greenie" starred on the varsity in his first year at college.

There's no indication yet that colleges plan to ram through any change to allow freshmen to compete in spring sports such as track and baseball. Most of the conference talk looks to the new term next fall.

Already in the present emergency, several colleges have abandoned football for the duration, or indefinitely. They include Duquesne, St. Mary's (Calif.), Hartwick (N. Y.), High Point (N. C.), Mt. St. Mary's (Md.), Corpus Christi U. (Tex.), and Portland (Ore.) University.

Schools are reluctant to do away with football, for that sport pays the way in most cases for the rest of the athletic program.

Tennis Stardom Beckoned Henie

New York, Jan. 26 (AP)—Maybe you didn't know it, but Sonja Henie might have become the world's greatest tennis player instead of diamond-studded queen of the ice rinks.

It was touch and go for a while, the blonde Norwegian skater said as she discussed her big decision last night shortly before going out to do her graceful whirls with her Hollywood ice show at Madison Square Garden.

"I was still in my teens when I went to Germany to learn the language," Miss Henie said. "I began playing tennis under the famous Czech professional, Karel Kozeluh.

"Later I played in our own Norwegian Nationals and gained the ranking of No. 2. I won the doubles. But I had to make a decision. I couldn't both skate and play tennis. I chose skating, although Mr. Kozeluh said I could be world champion in tennis."

The 38-year-old Pavlowa of the ice certainly has had no reason to regret it. She won every top honor in existence in skating before turning professional to reap millions of dollars.

Charles-Maxim Match

Chicago, Jan. 25 (AP)—The Chicago Tribune said today that the International Boxing Club will match heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles against Joey Maxim in a title fight here in June. Maxim is the current light heavyweight champion. The Tribune said Truman Gibson, Chicago chief of the I.B.C., of which former champion Joe Louis is part owner, made the announcement.

General on Visit

U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, Jan. 26 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, two hand grenades strapped to the webbing of his paratrooper uniform, today toured the western front where his Eighth Army troops are probing deep into Communist lines. The general described his visit as "one of my regular" tours of the men at the front. Ridgway stopped at an infantry mess to eat with the soldiers. The menu: spam, dehydrated potatoes and raw onions.

Nobody was surprised when Peter Leventritt and Ruth Sherman won the mixed pair event in the American Contract Bridge League's national championship in New Orleans last December. Both are among the leading players of the younger crop of experts.

The hand shown today gives some idea of the precision with which they bid and play.

Leventritt's first two bids indicated a hand that was too strong for one no-trump but not strong enough for two no-trump. Miss Sherman read the message accurately, and very properly decided that her hand would offer a fine play for twelve tricks but not an adequate play for thirteen. She therefore went right to the small slam.

West opened the four of spades, and Leventritt won in dummy with the queen. His next step was to lead a heart from dummy and let the opponents win it.

As it happened, West won with the ten of hearts and returned the jack of spades. Dummy won with the king, and East discarded a low heart.

Peter proceeded to cash his high cards in hearts and clubs. On the last of these tricks West was squeezed. He could save only five cards, but he needed four diamonds to prevent dummy from winning a trick with a low diamond, and two spades to prevent South from winning a trick with a low spade.

The key play was the loss of a heart at the second trick. This made it possible for Leventritt to develop the squeeze eventually. If declarer had simply cashed his high cards without giving up a heart trick, he would have been set.

Romance Brings Stabbing

New York, Jan. 26 (AP)—A romance begun two years ago at the Metropolitan Opera ended last night in the fatal stabbing of pretty, blonde Virginia Wilson, 24, and the arrest on a homicide charge of her suitor, 43-year-old Rolando Scioli. Police said Scioli, a radio mechanic, walked up to officers in a parked police car in Brooklyn and said: "I just stabbed my girl friend. I've had a lot of trouble with her for the past two years. What I went through for two years, you wouldn't know."

Sells Is Indignant Over Statement

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 26 (AP)—Charles H. Sells bristled with indignation today over Governor Dewey's assertion that it's "stupid" to propose earmarking of motor vehicle and fuel taxes for roads alone.

The former state superintendent of public works struck back at his old boss by declaring that "even a stupid plan has merit until a better one is proposed."

Sells, now executive secretary of the New York Good Roads Association, let it be known he would have more to say on the subject.

Speaking yesterday at the 40th annual meeting of the New York State County Highway Superintendents Association, Sells cracked:

"I suppose I may be properly introduced as 'Stupe.' I understand I am stupid because I advocate an end to the diversion of highway income. I must have a lot of company—including this organization, which favors the plan.

Sells Is Indignant Over Statement

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 26 (AP)—Charles H. Sells bristled with indignation today over Governor Dewey's assertion that it's "stupid" to propose earmarking of motor vehicle and fuel taxes for roads alone.

The former state superintendent of public works struck back at his old boss by declaring that "even a stupid plan has merit until a better one is proposed."

Sells, now executive secretary of the New York Good Roads Association, let it be known he would have more to say on the subject.

Speaking yesterday at the 40th annual meeting of the New York State County Highway Superintendents Association, Sells cracked:

"I suppose I may be properly introduced as 'Stupe.' I understand I am stupid because I advocate an end to the diversion of highway income. I must have a lot of company—including this organization, which favors the plan.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Doski was treated to an old-fashioned buggy ride Saturday night by members of the Plattekill Fire Department as a fitting welcome home from their wedding trip. The buggy was placed behind a car and taken on a trip including Plattekill, Peture Wood section, Modena, Ardonia, Sunset Camp road. The wagon, not being equipped with fenders of any type, was anything but protective in muddy sections of the country.

The Bonn government said an agreement last night had averted a strike by 750,000 workers, called for next week. The government said a committee of employers and union leaders today would draft a final agreement continuing union participation in plant management—first granted the workers by the allied occupation—after the Ruhr coal and steel trusts are returned to German control. Weitman Questioned On Additional Gems

New York, Jan. 26 (AP)—Leiser Weitman, 31, was questioned today about $320,000 worth of diamonds which federal authorities say they found hidden inside his body.

They said 800 carats, in three packets, were discovered in "the rectal area" of the Brooklyn man's body after he showed signs of physical discomfort in the Federal House of Detention.

Federal men said they wished to determine if Weitman had used a hitherto unknown drug to enable him to retain the gems in his body for five days.

He was arrested on a smuggling charge Sunday after he arrived at New York International Airport on a plane from Brussels.

Customs inspectors, who became suspicious of the size of Weitman's heels, reported finding $280,000 worth of pure white, uncut diamonds in his shoes at that time.

The additional $320,000 worth were not found until yesterday.

Mrs. Eta Hoffman, 26-year-old Czech, was arrested at the airport Monday and charged with attempting to smuggle $670,000 worth of industrial diamonds inside her wedgie-type shoes. She also is being held in jail.

Bail was set at $100,000 for Weitman and $150,000 for Mrs. Hoffmann.

Keresman Thinks Bill Would Pass

Albany, January 26—A proposed law to establish a 40-hour work week for policemen in all New York state municipalities is ready for introduction in the Legislature.

Sponsored again by Senator Seymour Halpern, of Queens, and Assemblyman Julius Volker, of Erie county, the measure was passed last year by the Assembly but remained in the Senate Civil Service Committee.

Forecasting favorable action by both houses and pressing for passage, Executive Secretary Peter Keresman of the Police Conference, State of New York, says the measure is supported by many civic, fraternal and industrial organizations. He estimated that letters, telegrams and petitions advocating the law last year were signed by about three million persons.

Sees Public Favor

Adoption last November of a 40-hour police work week referendum in the city of Saratoga by a 6 to 1 majority is seen by Keresman as additional indication of public favor of the proposed law.

With the legislative program keyed to the national emergency, the police bill fits into this program because its operation is not in effect in any emergencies.

The policeman's work week still would include Saturdays, Sundays and holidays and he still would be subject to 24-hour duty (with about two-thirds of his time being night work) without additional compensation.

Added to the work week is special duty at unusual occurences, elections, parades and celebrations. A policeman makes court appearances on his own time, which Keresman estimates takes an average of three weeks time a year. The bill to be put before the Legislature makes no changes in this extra duty.

The need for police departments to hold and attract good men requires a normal work week which can be granted in most cases without increasing costs, Keresman, who served twenty years with the Kingston, N. Y., police force, asserts. He added: "Adoption of this bill will increase police efficiency and prolong the policeman's term of service."

Social Activities Of Unions Probed

New York, Jan. 26 (AP)—District Attorney Frank S. Hogan announced yesterday he was investigating social activities of four unions of city sanitation department employes.

Books and records, dating back to Jan. 1, 1946, have been subpoenaed for inspection of data relating to dinners, balls, special events and other functions, Hogan said.

The subpoenas, returnable today, were served on:

The Joint Board of Sanitation Locals, Local 308 of the AFL Uniformed Sanitation Men's Association, Local 750 of the AFL Association of Classified Employes, and Local 1140 of the AFL Clerical Employes.

The district attorney already is conducting a similar investigation of the Police Department's Patrolmen's Benevolent Association and the Uniformed Firemen's Association in the fire department.

One fireman, Gerard Purcell, 38, has been indicated for grand larceny in connection with an alleged $138,000 swindle on the sale of tickets to firemen's balls.

The fire department also is probing reports that Purcell managed night club singers in addition to his duties as a fireman and financial secretary of the UFA.

Yesterday, UFA members held a three and one-half hour meeting from which newsmen were barred. After the session Thomas Deane, UFA public relations officer, said members voted overwhelmingly to support Purcell.

Recent Newlyweds Are Considered For Armed Service

Washington, Jan. 26 (AP)—The House Armed Services Committee turned its search for military manpower today toward young men who have married since the Korean fighting started June 27.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) said newlyweds between the ages of 19 and 26 make up one of the manpower sources the committee will explore before deciding whether the present draft age should be lowered from 19 to 18, as the Defense Department asks.

The committee is holding hearings on legislation sponsored by the Defense Department which besides dropping the present draft age minimum, would inaugurate a program of universal military service and training (UMST) and extend the time a draftee would serve from 21 to 27 months.

Must Take Chances

Meantime, Secretary of Defense Marshall said in a speech last night that "we must take our chances in the world" until the nation is turning out 50,000 military trainees a month.

Marshall said this figure may be reached in the summer. He spoke to the Women's Patriotic Conference here, making a strong plea for his UMST bill now under study by committees of both House and Senate.

The Senate Armed Services subcommittee announced it is stepping up its UMST hearings, beginning today with a schedule of ten witnesses, each limited to ten minutes testimony. Staff members said the committee hopes to end public hearings by Tuesday, then go into closed door meetings at which it will revise or completely rewrite the bill.

Assistant Secretary of Defense Anna Rosenberg is scheduled again as a witness. Vinson has asked her to give more information about the Defense Department's plan to lower physical and mental standards.

She told the committee yesterday that the department is going to lower these standards "as far as security will permit" to take in about 150,000 limited-service men.

TV Classes Are Held

Minneapolis, Jan. 26 (AP)—It was television classes again today for Minneapolis school children. Children kept from classes by a strike of school janitors seeking higher wages got their first lessons from television screens yesterday. He estimated that letters, telegrams and petitions advocating the law last year were signed by about three million persons.

Sees Public Favor

Adoption last November of a 40-hour police work week referendum in the city of Saratoga by a 6 to 1 majority is seen by Keresman as additional indication of public favor of the proposed law.

With the legislative program keyed to the national emergency, the police bill fits into this program because its operation is not in effect in any emergencies.

The policeman's work week still would include Saturdays, Sundays and holidays and he still would be subject to 24-hour duty (with about two-thirds of his time being night work) without additional compensation.

Added to the work week is special duty at unusual occurences, elections, parades and celebrations. A policeman makes court appearances on his own time, which Keresman estimates takes an average of three weeks time a year. The bill to be put before the Legislature makes no changes in this extra duty.

The need for police departments to hold and attract good men requires a normal work week which can be granted in most cases without increasing costs, Keresman, who served twenty years with the Kingston, N. Y., police force, asserts. He added: "Adoption of this bill will increase police efficiency and prolong the policeman's term of service."

Social Activities Of Unions Probed

New York, Jan. 26 (AP)—District Attorney Frank S. Hogan announced yesterday he was investigating social activities of four unions of city sanitation department employes.

Books and records, dating back to Jan. 1, 1946, have been subpoenaed for inspection of data relating to dinners, balls, special events and other functions, Hogan said.

The subpoenas, returnable today, were served on:

The Joint Board of Sanitation Locals, Local 308 of the AFL Uniformed Sanitation Men's Association, Local 750 of the AFL Association of Classified Employes, and Local 1140 of the AFL Clerical Employes.

The district attorney already is conducting a similar investigation of the Police Department's Patrolmen's Benevolent Association and the Uniformed Firemen's Association in the fire department.

One fireman, Gerard Purcell, 38, has been indicated for grand larceny in connection with an alleged $138,000 swindle on the sale of tickets to firemen's balls.

The fire department also is probing reports that Purcell managed night club singers in addition to his duties as a fireman and financial secretary of the UFA.

Yesterday, UFA members held a three and one-half hour meeting from which newsmen were barred. After the session Thomas Deane, UFA public relations officer, said members voted overwhelmingly to support Purcell.

Recent Newlyweds Are Considered For Armed Service

Washington, Jan. 26 (AP)—The House Armed Services Committee turned its search for military manpower today toward young men who have married since the Korean fighting started June 27.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) said newlyweds between the ages of 19 and 26 make up one of the manpower sources the committee will explore before deciding whether the present draft age should be lowered from 19 to 18, as the Defense Department asks.

The committee is holding hearings on legislation sponsored by the Defense Department which besides dropping the present draft age minimum, would inaugurate a program of universal military service and training (UMST) and extend the time a draftee would serve from 21 to 27 months.

Must Take Chances

Meantime, Secretary of Defense Marshall said in a speech last night that "we must take our chances in the world" until the nation is turning out 50,000 military trainees a month.

Marshall said this figure may be reached in the summer. He spoke to the Women's Patriotic Conference here, making a strong plea for his UMST bill now under study by committees of both House and Senate.

The Senate Armed Services subcommittee announced it is stepping up its UMST hearings, beginning today with a schedule of ten witnesses, each limited to ten minutes testimony. Staff members said the committee hopes to end public hearings by Tuesday, then go into closed door meetings at which it will revise or completely rewrite the bill.

Assistant Secretary of Defense Anna Rosenberg is scheduled again as a witness. Vinson has asked her to give more information about the Defense Department's plan to lower physical and mental standards.

She told the committee yesterday that the department is going to lower these standards "as far as security will permit" to take in about 150,000 limited-service men.
